PICKING JURY IS SLOW PROCESS

Only Three Chosen Up to Noon Monday in Nierengarten Case

ELEVEN TALES MEN EXCUSED

Taking of Testimony Not Expected Until Tuesday

WAPAKONETA—(Special)—Up to the noon hour recess of common pleas court here Monday only three jurors had been selected to try the case of the State of Ohio against Harold Nierengarten, of Lima, indicted for the murder of Joseph Scott Kershaw, also of Lima.

For the most part the eleven witnesses excused from service were passed on the ground of expression of sentiment against capital punishment. If found guilty as charged, Nierengarten will be sentenced to pay the penalty by death in the electric chair, unless the court should take cognizance of a possible recommendation of mercy by the jury.

THREE JURORS CHOSEN

Miss Della Wilkins of Noble-tp, Miss Emma Easterly, Salem-tp and F. L. Hardin, Union-tp, were accepted during the session Monday morning, as jurors.

It is not believed that the panel will be completed Monday. Judge C. A. Stueve, counsel for the prisoner, is proceeding carefully, inquiring diligently into the qualifications of the jurors. Judge Joseph D. Barnes of Sidney, Shelby-co., is presiding, due to the illness of F. C. Layton, resident judge.

ELEVEN ARE EXCUSED

Charles Noble, George Meyers, Frank Hardin, C. W. Timmermeister, Emanuel Krauss, Charles Easterly, Mrs. Etta Bricker, Etta Wagner, Frank Martin, John Madigan and Minnie Kuenning were excused.

Etta Wagner of Salem-tp, presented a certificate from her physician, asserting ill-health, as reason for being excused. C. W. Timmermeister is a brother of Prosecuting Attorney Karl Timmermeister, attorney for the state in the prosecution, and was disqualified on that ground.

Nierengarten was brought into court shackled, by Sheriff George Hwang and his deputies. The prisoner's brother, Leo Nierengarten, of Uniontown, Pa., and his sister, Miss Louise Nierengarten, of Lima, were in the court room. The accused's mother was not present when the case was opened.

PRISONER UNCONCERNED

Nierengarten is looking well physically, is carefully attired and groomed and appears little concerned despite the serious charge he is facing.

The court room was well filled during the morning hours, the crowd overflowing into the corridor on the second floor of the court house. There was, however, no rush for places.

Good order was maintained and there was no demonstration of any kind.

SANDS' HAND SEEN IN CONFESSION

Believed Author of Letter Admitting Taylor Murder

NEW YORK—(United Press)—A great man hunt, spreading over New York, New England and extending to ships at sea, within radio distance of this coast, is on today for Edward F. Sands, suspected slayer of William D. Taylor.

Captain of Detectives Adams in Los Angeles, asked that the search be made following receipt of a written "confession" of the Taylor murder. The "confession" letter was mailed from a Connecticut town and Adams believes the handwriting is that of Sands.

WIDOWING HUSBAND

The writer of the letter said he was an avenging husband and that he killed Taylor because the movie director had had an affair with his wife and then scorned her.

Certain details of the letter are being withheld by Los Angeles police, according to dispatches from that city.

The portions that have been made public, however, quote the writer as saying he and his wife drove to Taylor's home the night of February 1, and watched Taylor escort Mabel Normand to her automobile, saw Henry Peavoy, the negro valet, depart and then slipped into the backseat. Taylor, returning from his date, was confronted by the woman and rate husband. The shooting followed.

NEW CHAPTER

Comparison of this letter with specimens of Sands' handwriting indicated he wrote it according to advice from Los Angeles. However, police are inclined to doubt the details of the killing as given in the letter. They say Sands never had a wife. If the letter is authentic, then a hidden chapter in the lives of the missing Sands and Taylor is just being opened, police believe. Several chapters in Taylor's life already have been made public, including the revelation that he formerly was known as William Drane-Tanner and had a wife under that name.

"JOKER" FOUND IN CANAL BILL

SPLIT MAY BRING RESIGNATIONS

DISCOVERY MADE BY CABLE

Charged Ohio Would be Victim of Inequalities

WELTY DENIES STATEMENT

Lima Man Alleges Error by Ohio Legislature

Congressman John L. Cable of Lima, Representative from the Fifth Ohio district, threw what is termed a bombshell into the camp of the advocates of the Lake Erie-Ohio river canal, Monday but is not so taken by former Congressman B. F. Welty, who asserts that, "instead of being friendly to the construction of an Ohio canal, Cable is opposed and is seeking opportunity to discredit the project, the same as the railroads have been doing."

According to a dispatch from Washington, Congressman Cable has been active in behalf of the proposal, but he has found an Ohio law will force the property owners within 25 miles of the canal to pay all Ohio's share of the cost of construction. "Any action Congress might take would be dependent on the will of the voters of Ohio, to be expressed by general referendum," Cable announced.

"That is not altogether true," former Congressman B. F. Welty said Monday. Since leaving Congress, Welty has been in the employ of the Cincinnati Manufacturers' association, in behalf of the Miami and Erie canal and has been actively engaged with Alfred Kroll, president of the Inland Waterways' association.

UNITED STATES TO PAY COST

"The canal, as proposed," Welty says, "is to be constructed by the Federal government. The only special cost to be levied against the people within 25 miles on either side of the proposed route is for the construction of terminals."

"This plan was adopted by the Ohio Legislature in order to get away from the very thing that is proving a detriment in the case of the New York state canal, where the terminals are municipally owned and shippers are required to pay a tribute of $2 per ton for unloading privileges. In its wisdom, and as a matter of justice, the Ohio Legislature takes the position that the terminals should be publicly owned and that no special tribute be laid on shippers."

"In view of the fact that the canal would be of particular value to the people within 25 miles on either side of the route, there should be no objection on the part of anyone to assisting in paying the cost of terminals. It is a matter of self-protection and the development of a valuable project. Besides," Welty said, "if the plan is so objectionable as Cable's statement would indicate, why did not the Republican Legislature change it? There is no 'joker' in the plan," Welty said, "only as Cable and Congressman Fess and others are trying to make it appear, to the detriment of the project."

"Secretary of War Weeks declared only a few weeks ago," Welty said, "that the title of the Miami and Erie canal is in the Federal government. Besides, the Federal government has expended more than $162,000,000 for the canalization of the Ohio river and its tributaries to afford opportunity for the loading of barges at coal mines. Other states to the south are as much interested as Ohio in getting cheap coal transportation and the states to the north would like also to have advantage of cheap coal, such as would be afforded by canals."

Cable's Washington statement says he has cited the situation to those "employed professionally to push the project," but no action has been taken to change it.

"Few persons recognize that the enabling act passed by the Ohio Legislature constitutes a great canal district," Cable said in outlining his views.

DEFINITION CLAUSE VITAL

"Whenever Congress makes an appropriation, then the Governor issues a proclamation defining the boundaries of the zone, which shall be 25 miles on each side of the canal."

"A petition is then filed with the Secretary of State by 5,000 electors in the canal zone, and at the next general election, if a majority of the voters favor the organization of the district, the Governor appoints five electors, who shall constitute a Board of Canal commissioners."

"The board then organized selects a secretary and such attorney or attorneys and employees as, in its opinion, are necessary."

PUTS FULL BAN ON PICKETING

FEDERAL JUDGE A. M. J. COCHRAN, at Maysville, Ky., has issued an order against picketing which goes further than the recent decision of the U. S. Supreme Court permitting one picket for strikers.

Judge Cochran's order prevents strikers from keeping any picket about the plant of the Newport rolling mills at Newport, Ky.

Cincinnati to Toledo, especially at the expense of the real estate owners 25 miles on each side of the canal is not a fair proposition," he said.

"No election to establish a canal zone, in my opinion, could be carried by the voters in such a district. EARS TRIPLE EYES"

"They would not vote upon themselves the heavy expenses, with unknown limitations, for the purpose of paying a portion of the expenses of the organization and appraisal, and the second expense of assessments levied on these properties, according to the benefits and a third assessment to cover part of the cost of administration and current expenses."

"It also should be noted that the only limitation placed upon the amount of the assessments of the property within 25 miles is in favor of cities, townships and counties and that limitation is one per cent of the tax valuation."

"There is no limitation on the amount that can be assessed against the real estate owner, except that it shall not be in excess of his benefits."

"With the present sentiment in favor of the improvement of the St. Lawrence waterway, there should be double incentive for the construction of this canal. The other day I took up with members of the Appropriations committee the question of additional appropriations for the further survey of the proposed canal and received encouraging replies."

"A portion of the amount that the engineers requested for this survey will be granted."

"Members of Congress here can look after the interests of the citizens in Ohio who favor the proposed construction, but something absolutely has to be done with reference to the amendment of the laws of Ohio, otherwise the vote upon the petition of the public in any route zone will block all construction."

VOTERS NOT BLAMED

"These voters, in a way, could not be blamed, because a large area, in fact all that territory north as well as a large portion of the territory south of the Ohio river, particularly Kentucky and Tennessee, will be benefited."

"Therefore, why should we limit a large portion of the costs of organization, appraisal, construction and operation to the territory defined by the State Legislature as being within 25 miles on each side of the canal?"

Proposed Cut in Rail Men's Pay Up to Labor Board

CHICAGO.—(United Press).—Demand by railroads for an additional ten per cent cut in wages of more than 1,000,000 men was considered by the United States railroad labor board.

The board at the same time heard claims by shop crafts they were entitled to a 12 per cent increase.

GEN'L BYNG RAPS LIMA NEWS

Advises People Not to Believe What They Read in Headlines

ROTARIANS HEAR OFFICIALS

Lima Has As Pure Water as Any in Entire State

General Clarence Byng, city manager, severely scored The Lima News when called upon informally by President Bayly, of the Rotary club, in luncheon, Monday.

The attack of the city manager upon The Lima News followed splendid papers by City Chemist Smith, City Engineer Vaughn Miller and an impromptu address by Fire Chief John Mack.

General Byng rapped The Lima News for its story last week that police and firemen objected to the physical force introduced by the city manager. He said that 75 out of the 75 safety employees were now taking the constitutional, and advised Rotarians "not to believe everything they read in the evening paper."

Gen. Byng also advised that a police captain was now in Chicago learning how to become and how to train a policeman, and that in a short time a course would be started for recruits. Heretofore, he said, a new policeman was given a club and told to go to work on South Main. His only instruction, General Byng said, would be when he met some older officer, and asked for a lunch. Then he would be told to walk up and down and that paydays were twice a month.

According to Gen. Byng the police department never had a manual. (Every print shop in town has printed a new one each two years since Ira Longworth was mayor.)

WATER IS PURE

E. E. Smith, city chemist, in outlining the work of his department, gave a complete discussion of how Lima's city water is treated to make it pure. Lima has water of highest purity, he said. The water is stored up and treated chemically to make it absolutely fit for use and a small cost per day.

"The city has 120 miles of streets 50 miles of which are paved," Vaughn Miller, city engineer, in his talk, said. "Repaving Main-st will do more for Lima than any other thing."

Miller also urged more lights in the outlying districts and declared that the boulevard system is the finest in the country.

Fire chief John Mack urged the placing of more fire alarm boxes in various parts of the city so alarms can be turned in more quickly. "After all," said the chief, "getting to a fire—speed—is the one big thing for a fireman."

Police Chief M. F. Dawson could not be present and General Byng was called on for a talk. It was then he scored this newspaper. He said that efforts were being made to make the police department more efficient, and urged the support of everyone in giving advice that would help make Lima a better city.

Rotarians sang a number of songs at the banquet John Roby sang "Sweet Adeline," receiving considerable applause.

It was decided that Rotarians would take part in athletics and form a ball club this summer. One meeting will be given to boys' work, starting probably the week of March 27.

FINAL RUSH OF INCOME TAX RETURNS IS NOW ON; MARCH 15 IS LAST DAY

The office of E. S. Evans, Internal Revenue Deputy Collector in the postoffice building, is a busy scene. Tax returns are literally swarming into the office. The past week especially has been a busy one, Evans reports.

"One thing I would like to impress on persons who have returns to file," he said, "that is, that they do not wait until the last two days to bring them in. A filing must be done before March 15."

So far the returns are coming in pretty strong, he reports, although many are still to be heard from. The office Monday was crowded with men and women, bringing in their papers for filing.

Complications over the filing out of the blanks have arisen in many cases and the collector is having a hard time explaining to many just how to go about it correctly in getting the blanks right.

OFFERS TO SURRENDER

BERLIN.—Dr. Kapp, who led the revolution in March, 1920, which resulted in the temporary overthrow of the Ebert government, has offered to surrender for trial with the understanding that he be given safe conduct and not be placed under arrest. His proposal has been forwarded to the supreme court at Leipzig from an unnamed point in Sweden.

ON THE WAY TO THE GALLOWS

This shows Harvey W. Church, the 21-year-old Chicago murderer, as he was carried to the gallows and hanged on March 3. Church, who murdered two auto salesmen to obtain possession of a car, tried to heat his nose by an enforced hunger strike. A scientific liquid diet which he was forced to take kept him alive although he was in such a state of collapse when the time came that he had to be carried to the scaffold.

REVOLT IN IRELAND BREAKS OUT

Public Buildings Taken by Republican Army

With the three months' campaign for the Irish free state, under way today, rumblings of war reached the Irish capital from Belfast in the north and from Limerick in the south. The Ulster capital was once more the scene of sectarian rioting and British troops poured machine gun volleys down streets in an effort to check the fighting. One dead and twenty-two wounded was the week-end toll.

In Limerick city the situation was more serious. Irish republican army troops, rebelling against free state authority, entered the town and seized hotels and the railway station.

LIMERICK OUTBREAK

LIMERICK.—(United Press).—Armed troops of three opposing factions in Ireland, were in possession of different parts of the city today, and fears of an outbreak kept citizens in a state of anxiety.

Rebels Irish Republican troops, numbering between three and four hundred entered Limerick yesterday and commandeered the leading hotels and railroad station.

It was announced they had come to enforce the recent proclamation of the mid-Limerick brigade of the Irish Republican Army, repudiating the authority of the free state and pledging allegiance to the republic.

BRITISH FORCES OUT

With the arrival of the rebels the British commander ordered out his four armored cars and sent troops to patrol the streets in event of trouble.

The free state troops patrolled in the neighborhood of their billets but made no effort to interfere with the general policing of the town.

The British, it was reported, were inclined to continue their evacuation and let the opposing Irish factions decide the issue between themselves. The free state troops, while not fraternizing, have been on good terms with the British, but the newcomers were some of the wild lads from Cork, Clare and Limerick-co., who have been among the most savage fighters against "enemy occupation."

STREET BATTLES

BELFAST.—(United Press).—Bayonet charges and machine gun hoists, thru Belfast streets early today brought to an end the fierce sectarian fighting which flamed up over the week-end.

One dead and 20 wounded was the toll of street fighting. Armored cars rumbled thru the streets most of the night, hunting down those responsible for sporadic outbreaks of revolver firing, and stone throwing. Large forces of troops have been posted thru the streets to preserve order.

WILL COMBINE HOTEL, CHURCH

NEW YORK.—A combination church and 17 story modern hotel is to be New York's latest novelty in buildings. The structure, providing Sunday school space in the basement, a church on the first three floors and a missionary school on the roof, will be erected on the site of the Metropolitan Tabernacle, Broadway and 104th-st. A strict censorship will be exercised over hotel guests and card playing and dancing will be prohibited. The estimated cost is $1,500,000.

GAS RATES HOLD

Auglaize Companies Authorized to Collect Higher Toll

COLUMBUS.—(United Press).—Two Auglaize-co gas companies, The Wapakoneta Company and the St. Marys Company, were authorized today to resume collection of increased rates which were suspended by the public utilities commission, pending investigation.

The companies were required to deposit bond with the commission.

The Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric Company, Youngstown, filed application with the commission for permission to issue $2,000,000 of its bonds.

The adjoining Valley Water Company, also of Youngstown, filed application for permission to issue $10,000 of its premium stock.

PINTS PERMITTED

Carrying Small Quantity of Whisky Upheld by Court

(CLEVELAND.—(Associated Press).—Police Judge Savicki today refused to fine any of the score of men who were arrested before him, arrested over the week-end when found carrying on or half pint of whisky in their hip pockets.

"Many respectable people carry a little around with them," Judge Savicki said. "It's not against the law and I can't see where an officer gets the right to search them. Where a person is known to have a gallon or more it may be proper to arrest him. But when it's so small it can be carried on the hip pocket—that's different."

HOUSES BURNED

NEWARK.—Fire destroyed blowing and packing house of Licking Window Glass Company at Utica and second conflagration destroyed grocery and three cottages at Buckeye lake.

Wallace and Fall Break Over Department Policies

MATTER PUT UP TO HARDING

Principal Obstacle in Government Reorganization Plan

(BY HERBERT W. WALKER)

WASHINGTON.—(United Press).—The first serious friction in President Harding's cabinet has arisen between Secretary of the Interior Fall and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

The dispute centers around the governmental policy for development of Alaska and the proposed transfer under governmental reorganization of the forest preservation from the department of agriculture to interior.

Altho both Fall and Wallace declined today to comment on the situation, the breach is so serious, according to reliable information, that one or the other may resign.

FALL PROTESTS

Fall, it became known, has protested in a letter to a friend in congress that the department of agriculture, in its opposition to his policy for developing of Alaska and to the transfer of the forestry service, is engaging in personal propaganda against him. The letter indicates that he has carried his complaint to President Harding. The charge is denied by Wallace's assistants.

HARDING TAKES HAND

Chargos have been made by the American Forestry association in recent publications, that Fall is trying to gain control of the public resources of the country for private exploitation. This is denied by Fall's friends, who say that he holds the only way to develop the vast resources in Alaska and the west is thru private enterprise.

President Harding, it is declared, is now seeking to heal the breach between the two cabinet officials. This has been one of the principal obstacles to the submission of a governmental reorganization plan to congress by the cabinet.

PLAN ON FOOT TO BLOCK WEDDING

Kin Trying to Break Up McCormick-Oser Match

CHICAGO.—(United Press).—Fowler and Muriel McCormick today attempted to dissuade their sister, Mathilde, from her announced intention of marrying Max Oser, Swiss livery stable proprietor.

The brother and sister visited Mathilde at the home of Cyrus McCormick, chairman of the board of the International Harvester Company, with whom Harold F. McCormick has been making his home since his wife, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, obtained a divorce.

The visit was believed to be in accordance with the plans of the Rockefeller branch of the family to win Mathilde away from her Swiss fiancé. While publicly giving his consent to the proposed marriage, Harold F. McCormick also was reported to be in on the scheme, to upbraid Mathilde and Oser.

It is the hope of Muriel and Fowler to induce Mathilde to stay in America for five years, before returning to Switzerland to marry. They believe if she stays here that long she will have no desire to return to Zurich, where she made her home for eight years.

Mathilde's present plans are to return to Zurich in May and marry Oser soon after.

OFFICIALS SUED

Barnesville Man Claims Damages for Shot Wounds

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio.—(Associated Press).—Thomas McNiece, of Barnesville, has filed suit in Guernsey-co courts against former Mayor Jacob G. Calvert, former Safety Director L. R. Campbell, Police Chief John A. Long, former county Warden Frank M. Hardesty and Don Whitaker and their bondsmen for $50,000 damages alleging that he had been shot by the city officials on the night of March 11, 1921, and as a result of the wounds is crippled for life.

All of the officials were indicted by the grand jury in connection with the shooting. Calvert was tried twice, being found guilty in the first trial, but was granted a new trial and acquitted. Campbell has entered a plea of guilty to the charge and is now under suspended sentence. The others have not been tried.

The city officials were searching for whisky runners on the National road east of Cambridge the night of March 11, 1921, and attempted to stop McNiece who was passing in an automobile. Shots were fired and McNiece wounded.

WAGE CASE HEARD

Proposed Cut in Rail Men's Pay Up to Labor Board

CHICAGO. — (United Press.)—Demand by railroads for an additional ten per cent cut in wages of more than 1,000,000 men was considered by the United States railroad labor board.

The board at the same time heard claims by shop crafts they were entitled to a 12 per cent increase.

All classes of railroad men are affected by the petition for a wage cut except yard and train service men. They are negotiating direct with the employers.

The railroads are requesting restoration of practically the same wage scale as was effective prior to creation of the railroad labor board in 1919. The roads will be given five days in present arguments sustaining their contention that wages should be reduced.

In circles close to the railroad board here, it was expected that at the conclusion of the hearings the board will cut wages of all railroad labor except the train service brethren and the yardmen approximately ten per cent. This would mean a total yearly drop of more than $100,000,000 in the pay envelope of the railroad man.

PUTS FULL BAN ON PICKETING

FEDERAL JUDGE A. M. J. COCHRAN, at Maysville, Ky., has issued an order against picketing which goes further than the recent decision of the U. S. Supreme Court permitting one picket for strikers.

Judge Cochran's order prevents strikers from keeping any picket about the plant of the Newport rolling mills at Newport, Ky.

Cincinnati to Toledo, especially at the expense of the real estate owners 25 miles on each side of the canal is not a fair proposition," he said.

"No election to establish a canal zone, in my opinion, could be carried by the voters in such a district. FEARS TRIPLE BURDEN

"They would not vote upon themselves the heavy expenses, with unknown limitations, for the purpose of paying a portion of the expenses of the organization and appraisal and the second expense of assessments levied on these properties, according to the benefits and a third assessment to cover part of the cost of administration and current expenses."

"It also should be noted that the only limitation placed upon the amount of the assessments of the property within 25 miles is in favor of cities, townships and counties and that limitation is one per cent of the tax valuation."

"There is no limitation on the amount that can be assessed against the real estate owner, except that it shall not be in excess of his benefits."

"With the present sentiment in favor of the improvement of the St. Lawrence waterway, there should be double incentive for the construction of this canal. The other day I took up with members of the Appropriations committee the question of additional appropriations for the further survey of the proposed canal and received encouraging replies."

"A portion of the amount that the engineers requested for this survey will be granted."

"Members of Congress here can look after the interests of the citizens in Ohio who favor the proposed construction, but something absolutely has to be done with reference to the amendment of the laws of Ohio, otherwise the vote upon the petition of the public in any route zone will be blocked."

VOTERS NOT BLAMED

"These voters, in any way, could not be censured, because a large area, in fact all that territory north of the Ohio river and east of Illinois, as well as a large portion of the territory south of the Ohio river, particularly Kentucky and Tennessee, will be benefited."

"Therefore, why should we limit a large portion of the costs of organization, appraisal, construction and operation to the territory defined by the State Legislature as being within 25 miles on each side of the canal?"

GEN'L BYNG RAPS LIMA NEWS

Advises People Not to Believe What They Read in Headlines

ROTARIANS HEAR OFFICIALS

Lima Has As Pure Water as Any in Entire State

General Clarence Byng, city manager, severely scored The Lima News when called upon informally by President Bayly, of the Rotary club, in luncheon, Monday.

The attack of the city manager upon The Lima News followed splendid papers by City Chemist Smith, City Engineer Vaughn Miller and an impromptu address by Fire Chief John Mack.

General Byng rapped The Lima News for its story last week that police and firemen objected to the physical force introduced by the city manager. He said that 73 out of the 73 safety employees were now taking the constitutional, and advised Rotarians "not to believe everything they read in the evening paper."

Gen. Byng also advised that a police captain was now in Chicago learning how to become and how to train a policeman, and that in a short time a course would be started for recruits. Heretofore, he said, a new policeman was given a club and told to go to work on South Main. His only instruction, General Byng said, would be when he met some older officer, and asked for a hunch. Then he would be told to walk up and down and that paydays were twice a month.

According to Gen. Byng the police department never had a manual. (Every print shop in town has printed a new one each two years since Ira Longworth was mayor.)

WATER IS PURE

E. E. Smith, city chemist, in outlining the work of his department, gave a complete discussion of how Lima city water is treated to make it pure. Lima has water of highest purity, he said. The water is stored up and treated chemically to make it absolutely fit for use and a small cost per day.

"The city has 120 miles of streets 50 miles of which are paved," Vaughn Miller, city engineer, in his talk, said. "Repaving Main-st will do more for Lima than any other thing."

Miller also urged more lights in the outlying districts and declared that the boulevard system is the finest in the country.

Fire chief John Mack urged the placing of more fire alarm boxes in various parts of the city so alarms can be turned in more quickly. "After all," said the chief, "getting to a fire—speed—is the one big thing for a fireman."

Police Chief M. F. Dawson could not be present and General Byng was called on for a talk. It was then he scored this newspaper. He said that efforts were being made to make the police department more efficient, and urged the support of everyone in giving advice that would help make Lima a better city.

Rotarians sang a number of songs at the banquet. John Roby sang "Sweet Adeline," receiving considerable applause.

"It was decided that Rotarians would take part in athletics and form a ball club this summer. One meeting will be given to boys' work starting probably the week of March 27."

FINAL RUSH OF INCOME TAX RETURNS IS NOW ON; MARCH 15 IS LAST DAY

The office of E. S. Evans, Internal Revenue Deputy Collector in the postoffice building, is a busy scene. Tax returns are literally swarming into the office. The past week especially has been a busy one, Evans reports.

"One thing I would like to impress on persons who have returns to file," he said, "that is, that they do not wait until the last two days to bring them in. All filing must be done before March 15."

So far the returns are coming in pretty strong, he reports. "Also many are still to be heard from. The office Monday was crowded with men and women, bringing in their papers for filing."

Complications over the filling out of the blanks have arisen in many cases and the collector is having a hard time explaining to many just how to go about it correctly in getting the blanks right.

OFFERS TO SURRENDER

BERLIN — Dr. Karp, who led the revolution in March, 1920, which resulted in the temporary overthrow of the Liebert government, has offered to surrender for trial with the understanding that he be given safe conduct and not be placed under arrest. His proposal has been forwarded to the supreme court at Leipzig from an unnamed point in Sweden.

ON THE WAY TO THE GALLOWS

This shows Harvey W. Church, the 21-year-old Chicago murderer, as he was carried to the gallows, and hanged on March 3. Church, who murdered two auto salesmen to obtain possession of a car, tried to beat the noose by an enforced hunger strike. A scientific liquid diet which he was forced to take kept him alive although he was in such a state of collapse when the time came that he had to be carried to the scaffold.

REVOLT IN IRELAND BREAKS OUT

Public Buildings Taken by Republican Army

With the three months' campaign for the Irish free state, under way today, rumblings of war reached the Irish capital from Belfast in the north and from Limerick in the south. The Irish capital was once more the scene of sectarian rioting and British troops poured machine gun volleys down streets in an effort to check the fighting. One dead and twenty-two wounded was the weekend toll.

In Limerick city the situation was more serious. Irish republican army troops, rebelling against free state authority, entered the town and seized hotels and the railway station.

LIMERICK OUTBREAK

LIMERICK. — (United Press.)—Armed troops of three opposing factions in Ireland, Irish republicans, and of different parts of the city today, and fears of an outbreak kept citizens in a state of anxiety.

Rebels, Irish republican troops, numbering between three and four hundred entered Limerick yesterday and commandeered the leading hotels and railroad station. It was announced they had come to enforce the recent proclamation of the mid-Limerick brigade of the Irish Republican Army, repudiating the authority of the free state and pledging allegiance to the republic.

BRITISH FORCES OUT

With the arrival of the rebels, the British commander ordered out his four armored cars and sent troops to patrol the streets in event of trouble.

The free state troops patrolled in the neighborhood of their barracks but made no effort to interfere with the general policing of the town.

The British, it was reported, were inclined to continue their action and let the opposing Irish factions decide the issue between themselves. The free state troops, while not fraternizing, have been on good terms with the rebels, but it is the newsmen were some of the wild tales from Cork, Galway and Limerick, who have been among the "enemy" occupation.

STREET BATTLES

BELFAST. — (United Press.)—Bayonet charges and machine gun bursts thru Belfast streets early today brought to an end the fierce sectarian fighting which flamed up over the weekend.

One dead and 20 wounded was the toll of street fighting.

Armored cars rammed thru the streets most of the night, hunting down those responsible for spreading outbreaks of revolver firing and stone throwing. Large forces of troops have been posted thru the streets to preserve order.

Auglaize Companies Authorized to Collect Higher Toll

COLUMBUS. — (United Press.)—Two Auglaize gas companies, the Wapakoneta Company and the St. Marys Company, were authorized today to resume collection of increased rates, which were suspended by the public utilities commission, pending investigation.

The companies were required to deposit bond with the commission.

The Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric Company, Youngstown, filed application with the commission for permission to issue $2,000,000 of 15c bonds.

The Mahoning Valley Water Company, also of Youngstown, filed application for permission to issue $100,000 of its preferred stock.

PINTS PERMITTED

Carrying Small Quantity of Whisky Upheld by Court

CLEVELAND. — (Associated Press.)—Police Judge Savick today refused to fine any of the scores of men who were arrested below him, arrested over the week end when found carrying one or half pint of whisky in their hip pockets.

"Many respectable people carry a little around with them," Judge Savick said. "It's not against the law and I can't see what an officer gets the right to search them. Where a person is known to have a gallon of whisky in his pocket, that's different."

Wallace and Fall Break Over Department Policies

MATTER PUT UP TO HARDING

Principal Obstacle in Government Reorganization Plan

(BY HERBERT W. WALKER)

WASHINGTON. — (United Press.)—The first serious friction in President Harding's cabinet has arisen between Secretary of the Interior Fall and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

The dispute centers around the governmental policy for development of Alaska and the proposed transfer under governmental reorganization of the forest preservation from the department of agriculture to interior.

Altho both Fall and Wallace declined today to comment on the situation, the breach is so serious, according to reliable information, that one or the other may resign.

FALL PROTESTS

Fall, it became known, has protested in a letter to a friend in congress that the department of agriculture, in its opposition to his policy for developing of Alaska and to the transfer of the forestry service, is engaging in personal propaganda against him. The letter indicates that he has carried his complaint to President Harding. The charge is denied by Wallace's assistants.

HARDING TAKES HAND

Charges have been made by the American Forestry association in recent publications, that Fall is trying to gain control of the public resources of the country for private exploitation. This is denied by Fall's friends, who say that he holds the only way to develop the west resources in Alaska and the west is thru private enterprise.

President Harding, it is declared, is now seeking to heal the breach between the two cabinet officials. This has been one of the principal obstacles to the submission of a governmental reorganization plan to congress by the cabinet.

PLAN ON FOOT TO BLOCK WEDDING

Kin Trying to Break Up McCormick-Oser Match

CHICAGO. — (United Press.)—Fowler and Muriel McCormick today attempted to dissuade their sister, Mathilde, from her announced intention of marrying Max Oser, Swiss brother-in-law of Muriel.

Mathilde's present plans are to return to Zurich in May and marry Oser soon after.

OFFICIALS SUED

Barnesville Man Claims Damages for Shot Wounds

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio — (Associated Press.)—Thomas McNiece, of Barnesville, has filed suit in Huron county courts against former Mayor Jacob C. Calvert, former sheriff Chester L. R. Campbell, Police Chief John A. Long, former chief of police Frank M. Hardesty and Don Whitaker and their bonds, claiming $50,000 damages alleging that he had been shot by the city officials on the night of March 11, 1921, and as a result of the wounds is crippled for life.

All of the officials were indicted by the grand jury in connection with the shooting. Calvert was tried twice, being found guilty in the first trial, but was granted a new trial and acquitted. Campbell was entered a plea of guilty to the charge and is now under suspended sentence. The others have not been tried.

The city officials were searching for whisky runners on the National road east of Cambridge the night of March 11, 1921, and attempted to stop McNiece who was passing in an automobile. Shots were fired and McNiece wounded.

$1,000,000 ROADS FOR ALLEN-CO

Program of 1922 contemplates 35 Miles of Highway

STATE AND FEDERAL AID

Division Engineer Returns From State Conference

Allen-co will build almost a million dollars worth of permanent roads in 1922. If the county's proportion of bonds for federal and state work are sold, George Clements, division engineer, announced Monday.

Clements recently returned from a conference of members of the state highway department, at Columbus. Allen-co will have as large a road program as any county in the state, he said.

FUNDS APPROPRIATED

Appropriations for road work, from the state and national treasuries will include: Intercounty highways, $47,500; federal and state aid, $129,550. The county, in order to obtain this money, will have to issue bonds in an equal amount.

The total, $177,050, will construct just a shade less than 35 miles of roads.

In addition, Allen-co will receive from the state $9,450 for maintenance. This will be the smallest maintenance fund paid to any county in the district. Williams-co will draw $52,475 for road maintenance, although it is a much less populous county.

The reason is that Williams-co and other counties in the first district have built more road than Allen-co.

As a result of the Columbus conference, Clements said a vast amount of attention is to be paid this year to inspectors on state roads.

Start of the road program is awaiting final approval of the federal government and after that the county must dispose of its bonds.

117 MILES IN 8 COUNTIES

The eight counties under Clements' charge will construct 117 miles of federal aid roads in 1922.

Ohio is spending its entire state and federal aid money on seven cross-state roads. They are the Chicago-Buffalo; Lincoln-Harding Highway; National Trail, running east and west; Three C route; Dixie-Sandusky-Portsmouth; and Cleveland-Marionette route, running north and south.

All are to be completed this year. With exception of the section near Lima, practically all of the Lincoln and Dixie routes are now completed.

CHECKS DELAYED

Allen-co Ex-Servicemen Not Receiving Bonus

Allen-co servicemen are not receiving their state bonus, save in a few exceptional cases, it was learned Monday.

Blame for the failure of the compensation checks to be issued to the men entitled to them locally is placed on the war department by R. R. Roberts, Columbus, director of the Ohio Adjusted Compensation board.

Servicemen in other counties are getting their checks and a good percent of them have been paid.

Inquiry was made several days ago by Prosecutor Eugene Lippincott, to learn the cause of the delay. Congressman John Cable was asked to look into the matter in Washington.

He wired R. R. Trubey Monday that he had taken the matter up, but that everything is going very slowly. Trubey expects to receive additional information soon.

Efforts were made to have payment made first to men who were wounded or gassed. Roberts states that he is awaiting the arrival of service records from the war department.

In the meantime many Allen-co veterans are in dire need of the money.

MRS. CABLE ILL

Mrs. D. J. Cable, of S. Metcalf, has been confined to her home for the past 10 days, suffering from a severe cold.

RAIN PROSPECT FOR TONIGHT

Rain tonight, the weatherman says, but you don't have to believe it unless you so desire. In view of the state of the weather Sunday during the morning on Monday, one is justified in scouting the prediction of rain, or anything else save clearing and general springlike conditions.

However, one never knows what the weatherman has up his sleeve. The prediction is, cold in the extreme west and warmer in the south.

One of the privileges enjoyed by the average citizen is that he may disagree with a weather prediction, without the danger of being arrested for lese majesty or fined for contempt.

So, if you don't like the predictions made, refuse to believe and make your own forecasts and see whether you are more successful than the man who depends upon scientific calculations and indications by delicate instruments prepared for that purpose.

SLAYER CONSENTS TO WEDDING

Mary Brunette and Sam Ingrassia Secure License

INNOCENT CAUSE OF KILLING

Daughter of Angelo Brunette is to Marry Tailor

Mary Brunette, 444 Lake-st., who gave her age as 16 to Miss Jessie Miller, marriage license clerk, is to become a bride.

Her father, Angelo Brunette, languishes in the Allen-co jail, awaiting investigation by the next grand jury of a charge of murdering Rosario Verardo, whom he claimed, tried to kill Mary away.

Mary and Sam Ingrassia, 27, tailor, 815 S. Main-st., appeared at the marriage license bureau Monday noon. They brought with them an interpreter.

Mary said she was 16 years old, in January. She declared she was born in New York. Ingrassia gave his age as 27.

They announced that a justice of peace would marry them. To a reporter they declared later that the wedding would not take place until Mary was 18. Ingrassia said he simply took out the license and announced his intention of marrying Mary so that he might aid the family in the coming trial of the girl's father for murder.

Ingrassia said he wanted to form a financial support for the girl and the large family of children and that was why they secured the license.

FATHER GIVES CONSENT Because of Mary's tender age, it was necessary that the consent of her father be secured. After Miss Miller had reached the part in the application for a license where consent was required, she visited the county jail, Angelo Brunette confined there, at once gave his consent to the marriage of his daughter.

Ingrassia has been a boarder in the Brunette home for some time and was there, according to witnesses, the night of the shooting of Verardo. Ingrassia gave his birthplace as Italy and said he came to Lima in 1912.

MOTHER SEEKS LICENSE Mrs. Angelo Brunette appeared at the marriage license bureau one day last week and endeavored to secure a license for Mary to wed the Italian tailor. She said Mary was at home baking bread and could not come, so she appeared in her stead.

Miss Miller informed her that it was Mary, and not her mother, she must see with Ingrassia, to issue the license. The Italian said he and Mary had been sweethearts for some time.

CLEVELAND JUDGES APPEAL FROM LIMA DECISION IN CASE OF SALARY INCREASE

The case of Edward P. Stanton, as prosecuting attorney of Cuyahoga-co against John Zangle, county auditor, passed on by court of appeals of Lima district in January, is to be revived by the supreme court.

Seven Cleveland common pleas judges on Monday filed a petition in the supreme court asking certification from the Lima appellate court of the files in the case. George P. Hille, a tax payer, prosecuted the suit when Stanton dropped it and was remunerated by appellate court, when they gave their decision.

Hille sought to enjoin payment of a $2,000 a year salary increase authorized by the legislature in 1913. An appellate court held the judges were not entitled to the increase because they were in office at the time it was granted. This condition, they ruled, was prohibited under the constitution.

TWO START SUIT FOR DIVORCE

Wife, Husband, File Charges—Ramsdell Makes Answer

Within a short space of time, Monday, two divorce suits were recorded in the new journal opened at the clerk's office in the court house.

Mrs. Mary C. Parker is asking for a decree of separation from Lemuel E. Parker and Alexius C. Craycroft is suing his wife, Jessie I. Craycroft for divorce.

Mrs. Parker charges her husband with cruelty and failure to provide her the comforts of life. She says he drove her from their home on February 23, 1922. The couple were married on May 8, 1919, and have no children. Mrs. Parker was Mary C. Hartman before her marriage.

Craycroft charges his wife with adultery.

Wesley Reed Ramsdell, Auglaize-co farmer, in an answer to the divorce petition of his wife, Hazel A. Ramsdell, says that it was her plan to live at the home of her parents in Lima and that he was to come to see her at stated times. He says she disowned living on the farm or contributing in any way to assist him in such duties.

They were married on June 22, 1920, and have no children. He says Mrs. Ramsdell left him the following Decoration Day.

LIMA DEALERS ATTEND CONVENTION OF SHOEMEN

P. W. Crawford, of Crawford's Bootery, and S. D. Kaplan, of the Valley Shoe Shop, left Monday for Cleveland, where they are to attend a three-day session of the Ohio Valley Shoe Dealers' association. More than 1,000 dealers in shoes from Ohio are expected to be at the convention which will be held at the Hotel Wincon.

Crawford, who is a member of the board of directors of the association, will give a talk at the open forum for discussion of shoe styles for immediate use and early fall.

A business session opened the convention Monday afternoon. The convention will close Wednesday afternoon, with election of officers.

FARM AGENTS OF EIGHT COUNTIES TO MEET HERE

Farm agents from eight counties will assemble in Lima March 9 for a conference with a view of taking on plans for putting the program of farm work in operation in the respective territories. The meeting will be held at the Chamber of Commerce.

A. E. Anderson, Ohio assistant county agent leader, will be one of the speakers. Agents from the counties represented will also make some sort of report. H. J. Ridge, Allen-co farm agent, said.

These counties will be represented in the conference: Paulding, Van Wert, Mercer, Auglaize, Hancock, Hardin, Logan and Allen.

FARM BUREAU AGENTS TO HOLD MEETING HERE

Plans for perfecting the schedules for towns and townships in Allen-co that have not completed their farm work program for 1922 was taken up at a meeting of the board of directors of the Allen-co Farm Bureau in the Chamber of Commerce.

Each man on the board of directors was nominated to appear and work in his township to see that the work is completed and to co-operate with the Chamber of Commerce in creating sentiment for the reappraisal of property in the county.

Farm bureau members went on record. County Agent Ridge said, as being heartily in favor of a reappraisal of property in the county.

BROKEN GLASS AIDS THIEF TO GET MOUSE TRAP, PINS

A thief removed a piece of glass from a plate glass window at the Simmons grocery, 1200 S. Main-st., Saturday night and stuck his hand thru the opening, but all he got for his trouble was a mousetrap and a card of pins, which he appropriated.

The theft was reported to police, who discovered the glass had been previously cracked. The thief had little difficulty in removing the piece, they say.

Like Owning the Car 50 to 500 Miles—or More The Franklin Standard of Demonstration

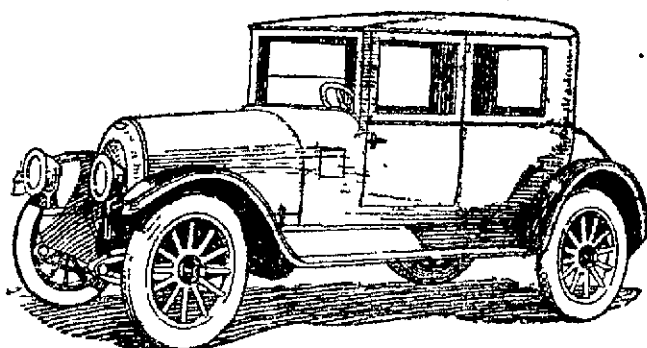

There are two ways to find out about performance. Buy the car and take the risk, or get the complete facts before buying. The latter course seems the more sensible, so we have made it possible. This demonstration shows exactly how the Franklin competes as a road car and on a cost-per-mile basis. Go to any one of our 500 dealers any time. It will pay you to know this car.

THREE NEW FRANKLIN MODELS

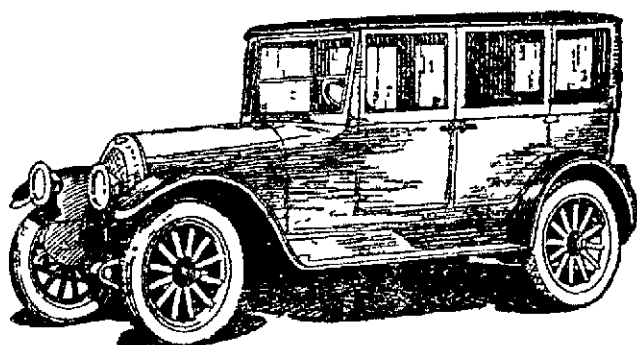

THE DEMI-SEDAN

Two cars in one—a five-passenger type which is already one of the most popular Franklin models. Permanent top; four doors; removable, non-rattle glass panels. The latter permit three different degrees of weather protection to suit all seasons. Weight, 2550 lbs. $2850.

THE COUPE

The newest Franklin model, a compact enclosed car representing several new developments of this convenient type so generally popular for personal use. Comfortably placed driver's seat; offset seat with ample room for two passengers; upholstered cab chair for fourth passenger which folds upon the toe-boards when not in use. Weight, 2650 lbs. $3200.

THE TOURING LIMOUSINE

An exclusive Franklin type for the motorist who employs a chauffeur, so designed, however, as not to isolate the owner when he himself wishes to take the wheel. Removable glass panel between front and rear seats gives privacy or permits intimacy, as desired. Limousine comfort with Franklin road-ability. Weight, 2875 lbs. $3800.

Demi-Coupe $2750 Runabout $2400
Touring Car $2450

Today's Franklin Again Leads With A Score of Recent Improvements

JUST as Franklin was first with the four-cylinder engine, the six-cylinder engine, valves in the head and many other contributions to automobile progress, so today it again comes to the front with a score of important improvements.

The new case-hardened crankshaft alone is the most valuable advance in years. It triples the life of bearing surfaces—they now last an entire ownership without requiring taking up!

Starting is quicker, surer, easier—in any temperature. New and powerful starter, improved electric vaporizer and closed-circuit ignition system make this possible. Perfected silent-chain starter drive and patented Long-type aluminum pistons introduce quiet engine operation.

Lengthened rear springs increase Franklin comfort. Automatic lubrication of valves and of steering yoke pins lessens routine care. Propeller shaft is larger. With the new adjustable spring pivot bolts, every important point of wear in the Franklin is now easily adjustable—a big factor in longer life which no other car possesses.

And there are a dozen other improvements, each adding similarly to Franklin worth.

ON THE SCENT

PERFUME sales are increasing. This is a sure sign that world business conditions are improving. So says Ferdinand Javal, of the Houbigant perfumery works in France.

In hard times, says Javal, luxuries such as perfumes are the first to feel the paring knife of economy.

When times get better, wives and daughters have more money to spend. Presto! Up go the sales of perfumery, rouge, powder and cosmetics.

This theory should make life more interesting to economists. Growing perfume sales will be more enticing than steel ingot tonnage, freight traffic, fire losses or ebb-and-flow of the stock market.

IN the reviving perfume industry, Javal notices this interesting fact: The people are buying more expensive perfumes, war having refined their tastes, accustomed them to better things and created a desire for a higher standard of living.

Time, deflation and paying off the war debt will tell whether the world's people are biting off more than they can chew.

IN Russia, says Javal, the revolution ended the sales of the better grade of perfumes. But the sales have started up again, indicating this:

When the upper classes of society are destroyed, in their place soon appears a new group with the same tastes, desires and wants.

This replacing group shows that civilization is like a coral reef. Cut off the top and it is soon replaced by new growth. The tendency forever is from below upward. Like a growing tree—crop follows crop until the tree or civilization becomes extinct.

IN France, before the war, perfume sales were mostly in cities. Now the big demand comes from small towns. The war has redistributed wealth, which is a good thing.

Germans are hoarding perfume, knowing that it has an international value, less apt to depreciate than the mark.

Perfumes were invented in ancient days, when few took baths, to enable people to get close to each other without grieving the sense of smell.

Even in modern times, the world would be much better in health if sales of soap were a better barometer of human activities than sales of perfumes and cosmetics.

Clean, healthy civilization is based on clean, healthy bodies.

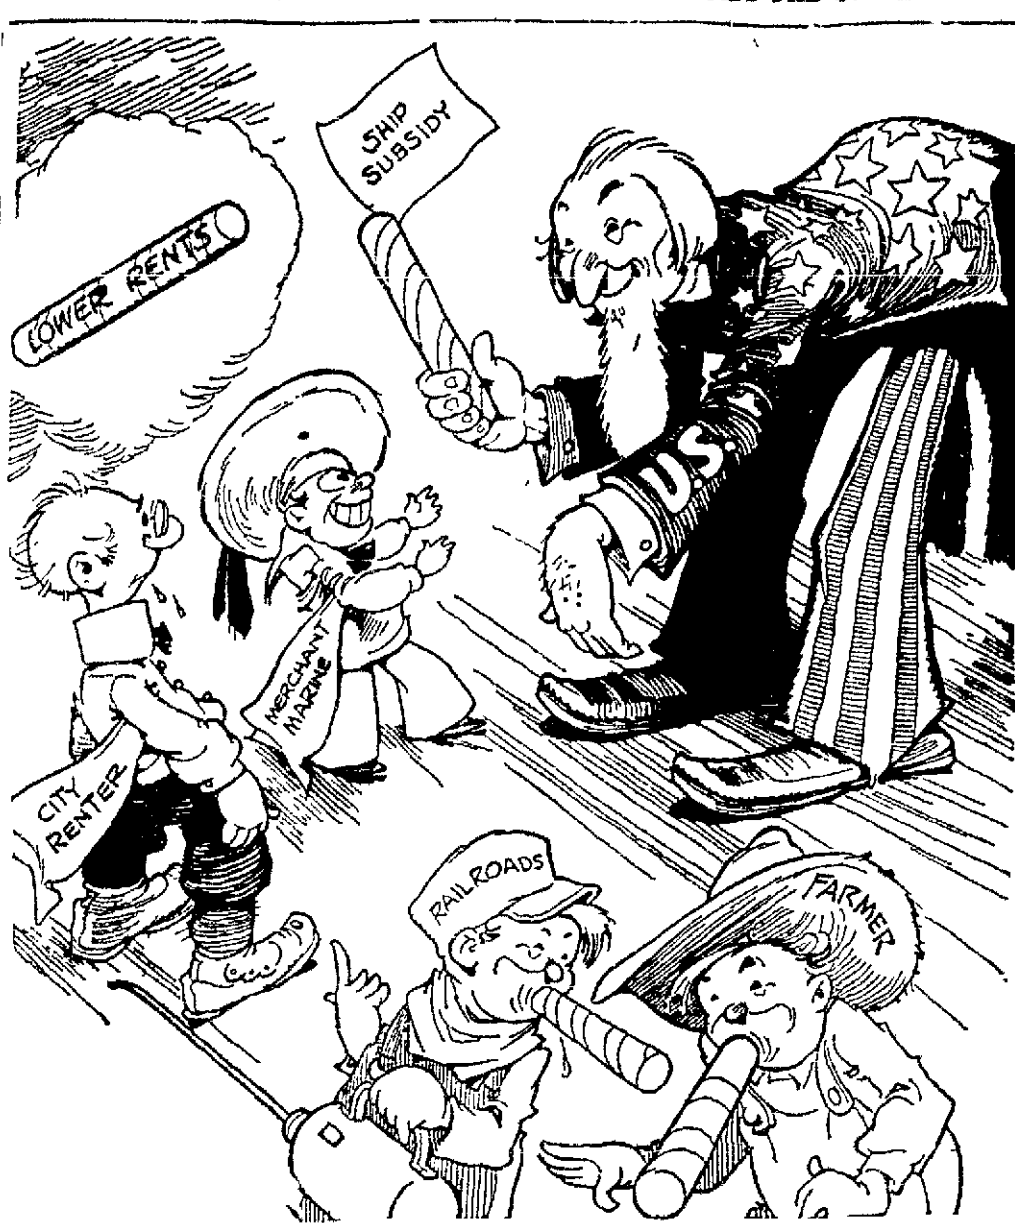

LEGION IS GROWING

WHEN an organization sets about seeking larger quarters, it is an indication of growth and spreading out; of broadening of its scope. It is gratifying to take note of the fact that the American Legion of Lima and Allen-co is seeking larger quarters, as a result of its growth and the expanding of its usefulness.

Organization of an auxiliary of women, whose activities are an aide to the former service men, has added to the strength of the local movement. The men who fought the battles of the world war to a successful conclusion are recognizing more and more that in union there is strength and that in organization lies power.

Just as the Grand Army of the Republic and the Women's Relief Corps were a power for stabilization thru a generation following the civil war, the American Legion and the women's auxiliary will be an aide to the preservation of American ideals in peace-time, even as they were in war. Their best efforts have been given to the interests of America. As time goes on and as questions arise that affect the republic as a whole, it will be found that the Legion is always on the right side of the question.

Those who fought for the preservation of American principles can be depended upon to stand for their perpetuation. American institutions are their first consideration. Every ex-service man should be enrolled as a member of the Legion; each and everyone should bear his part in the general program of the organization. Organized, these men are a power for progress and patriotism and preservation of American ideals. Unorganized, there is danger of false ideals creeping into hearts that are fundamentally right. With an organization such as has been perfected in The American Legion, there is no danger of anything of this kind.

It is no selfish motive on the part of anyone in commending the Legion. It is a matter of safety and sense; of loyalty and devotion to principles that are imperishable so long as hearts are right and activities are properly directed.

MIAMI

In Miami, in Miami, when the north is cold and clammy
In the city of Miami it is June;
And the sunny ocean beaches are besprinkled thick with peaches
In the morning and the lazy afternoon.

They are brown—those lovely women, and their suits are made to swim in;
They are healthy—you can see it at a glance—
Yet they show sophistication at the are of mild flirtation
And they shake a snaky slipper in the dance.

In Miami, in Miami, life is soft as softest chamomile
(Which is used, of course, to furnish me a rhyme)
And the days slip by in measure to a gay gavotte of pleasure
In this honey-sweet and sunny tempered clime;

Yet for all its lazy glamor it's a city full of clamor,
Full of hustle and of bustle and of zest,
Where the real-estate hound you as they eagerly surround you
And the oil-men never give you any rest.

Oh, the grapefruit hang in bunches for your breakfasts and your lunches
And the stately palms are rustling in the breeze
And the sea-planes climb the skyways and the atmospheric byways
Over amethyst and jade and sapphire seas.

Life has neither care nor canker where the white yachts ride at anchor
And the pelicans are skimming to and fro
Are you seeking rest from worry and from mad frenetic hurry?
Then Miami is the place for you to go.

In Miami motor traffic would disturb a soul seraphic;
There is neither rule nor reason when you drive.
In Miami Bryan's dwelling is beatitude excellent,
And his Senate boom is very much alive.

It's a warm and friendly city and gladly pen this ditty
Which will advertise Miami, wholly free,
As the town of joy and plenty and of dolce far niente,
As a magic happy city by the sea.

Common Sense Ways to Keep Well

BOILED MILK, RAW EGGS

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP

For years there has been much discussion over the question of the relative efficiency of raw and boiled milk as foods. Medical science as a whole has not yet agreed upon the question, but the bulk of the best recent experimental evidence is distinctly in favor of the boiled product.

In some rather convincing tests made by Philip B. Hawk, of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, it was shown that boiled milk forms much smaller curds in the stomach than raw milk.

For this reason the boiled milk di-gests more rapidly and the material leaves the stomach sooner than in the case of raw milk.

The curds of pasteurized milk are intermediate in character between those of boiled milk and raw milk, but more nearly resemble those of raw milk.

Hawk's experiment found that the curds formed from raw whole cow's milk in the human stomach one hour after the milk was drunk were fully as large as a man's thumb.

In later stages the coalesce and form enormous rubber-like curds about three or four inches in length and an inch in diameter. Under the same conditions the curds of boiled milk were found to be hardly larger than a small pea.

Further it was found that the raw milk curds were always firm in character and white in color, while the boiled milk curds were flaky and yellow in color.

Many dietitians claim that boiled milk destroys the accessory substances, called vitamins, that make milk so valuable as a food. Hawk, however, found in his tests, they were not destroyed in the ordinary period of boiling.

If milk were heated for an hour under high pressure, there is a change in the casein which renders it an inadequate food.

However, milk which is to be used as a food is never so heated. Ordinarily three or five minutes' boiling suffices.

GOSSIP OF THE CAMPS

BY BILLY EVANS
WHEN the teams go south for spring training they have two objects in mind, the conditioning of the veterans who have proved their worth and the trying out of the recruits.

Since the fans are familiar with the veterans and their style of play not much space is given to their work on the training trips. The war correspondents deal almost entirely with the recruits.

It is in the spring that the young pitchers are referred to as second Johnsons and Alexanders, that the outfielders are compared with Speaker, Cobb and Roush, that the infielders are likened unto Hornsby or Collins, that the catchers are pronounced second Schalks, O'Neills or Killifers.

THE major league recruits each year are the cream of the baseball talent. The phenoms from every section of the country are gathered for a tryout. Every now and then some recruit makes good from the training trips. The war correspondents deal almost entirely with the recruits.

It is in the spring that the young pitchers are referred to as second Johnsons and Alexanders, that the outfielders are compared with Speaker, Cobb and Roush, that the infielders are likened unto Hornsby or Collins, that the catchers are pronounced second Schalks, O'Neills or Killifers.

Usually these phenoms find the jump from the sticks to the big show quite a distance. A majority of them soon fall by the wayside. The small town sluggers discover big league pitching is considerably different to hit. The small town pitchers find the big league hitters are much harder to fool.

BOWL THIS WEEK
IN A. B. C.

The Sigmas and Manufacturers, two of the three Lima bowling teams entered in the American Bowling Congress tournament at Toledo, are scheduled to roll next Thursday and Friday.

They will run off the five-men pin competition Thursday and roll the doubles and singles Friday.

The Deisel-Wemmer quintet will not bowl until March 30. Members of the three teams are confident they will rank among the topnotchers, if not at the head of the entry list of more than 1,100.

Other Allen-co team, Wilhelm's Specials, Delphos, are entered in the huge meet.

With these two stars signed the short field and backstop position are well taken care of. They are .330 hitters and powers on the diamond. They were members of Bob Reichert's Troy outfit last season.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR CARD ALMOST COMPLETE

Match Artie Root
With Jake Gross
In Headliner

THO four weeks in the offing, arrangements for the next fist-carnival of the Lima Gym club are practically complete. Unlike many other boxing shows heretofore held in Lima, the preliminary pow-wow is being eliminated and the card will establish a record for speediness in the framing process.

Less than a week ago the club staged its fifth exhibition and hardly was the last blow struck than the fans began asking, "When's the next?" The task of the promoters was made easy because the fans made known their wishes very plainly.

In the first place they want to see Jake Gross tread the canvas again, his win over Art Madden on the fourth card having whetted fans' appetite for the featherweight. Secondly, the boxing fraternity split the ozone with their demands for some more of Indian Horner, the Montreal, Canada, sensation.

Third, the loyal league had a basket full of ideas about the remainder of the card, and all the magnates had to do was to step out and get something good in the boxing line for the other two fights.

Fourth, the boxing fraternity split the ozone with their demands for some more of Indian Horner, the Montreal, Canada, sensation.

That is the way the Gym club is lining up things, the president, Charley Maxwell, said. They have narrowed Gross' field of opponents down to the three most likely candidates, assumed that the Horner Stigall go is a dead cinch, set their nets for one of the fighting Jeakle brothers and decided to give the South Side sailor boy a chance to show his wares.

Red Young vs. Battling Jeakle, Toledo, Weight u. announced. Eight rounds.

ROOT MOST LIKELY OPPONENT FOR JAKE GROSS

Root ... in all probability fight Gross. The members of the club like the clever Clevelander against the local feather and hope he will sign the necessary articles. Root, of course, will be a in the background if Patsy Dugan should display good form tonight in his bout with Blockie Richards, at Dayton. The club would then go after him, or they may pick Blockie. Miller, the Lorain six-er, would make a good match for Gross, albeit Jack Wolfe slipped the soothing syrup to him last week on his native soil. Jack earned the fight and Miller put up a wonderful scrap. Letters received here by the club.

CLUB LIKES BATTING JEAKLE AGAINST YOUNG

After all is said and done Battling Jeakle, the tough Toledoan, brother to K. O. Jeakle, will be the best bet against Red Young. There has been some talk about Speck Kasler, but a bout between him and Young is being arranged for the Wapakoneta card early in April. To prevent duplication Jeakle will be given the preference here.

It has been decided to hold the card down to 34 rounds. Rather a card of that length with all boxers trying every minute of the time than a 42-round affair with a good percentage of it "dead" stuff, say promoters.

FIELD IN SPEED EVENT

LOS ANGELES. — Tommy Milton, winner of the 1921 national speedway championship under the American Automobile Association contest rules today was the possessor of 500 points towards the 1922 title, and $10,000 prize money as the result of his victory in the 250 mile race at the Beverly Hills Speedway, Sunday.

Milton whisking his fast mount around the bowl for an average of 110.8 miles an hour jumped into the lead in the first lap and held that position thru with the exception of a few circuits during the middle of the race when Ralph De Palma crept out in front. The veteran Italian went out of the competition in the 15th lap with a broken piston.

MURPHY SECOND
Jimmy Murphy, winner of the French Grand Prix last year was the second driver to finish, his average time for the 250 miles being 109.2 miles an hour. Harry Hartz won third place; Frank Elliott fourth, Eddie Hearne fifth, Joe Thomas sixth and Edie Miller seventh.

Miller, the only man in the field after the first six had crossed the finish line, was flagged at the end of the 19th lap.

MAKES FASTEST LAP
Pietro Bordino, a recent arrival from Italy who had been regarded as one of the dangerous contenders for first honors, went out in the 13th lap with engine trouble, after he had treated the crowd of more than 50,000 spectators to what was claimed to have been the fastest lap ever negotiated on a mile and a quarter course by a car of 183 inch piston displacement. His average time for this lap was 118 miles an hour.

GREB'S CHANCE FOR TITLE

BY BILLY EVANS
WHO will be Jack Dempsey's next opponent? Harry Willis has already qualified as a contender. Tommy Gibbons, prominently mentioned as the logical opponent for Champion Dempsey, is to be put to the acid test March 13. On that date Gibbons will clash with Harry Greb of Pittsburg at Madison Square Garden in New York. This bout should be a whale of an affair. Gibbons met w. decisive

FARMERS' MARGIN CLOSING IN

Boost in Corn Cutting the Profit in Hogs

MORE SOWS ARE BEING KEPT

Overproduction of Pork, However, Not Threatened

COLUMBUS—(Associated Press)—"Ohio hog feeders cannot long enjoy the wide margin between the price of hogs and the price of corn," J. S. Coffey, department of animal husbandry at Ohio State University, declared today.

"Hogs have passed the $11 mark, and while corn is on the upgrade, there still is a wide margin between the two," he continued.

"The reason for the closing in of this margin, is that a good many more sows are being kept this year, than in previous years, due to the fact that many farmers, who lost money feeding cattle, the last two or three years, are taking up swine production, because it is more quickly established, requires less capital, enables them to realize more quickly on their investment, and because corn is cheap.

"This may not mean an overproduction of pork, but it does mean that the price of corn will advance, because the prices now received for hogs cannot come down as long as cattle and lambs are as high proportionately."

It is more profitable to the feeder to feed out and market either sheep and hogs while young than to carry them over and market them at a mature age, according to authorities of the department of animal husbandry at Ohio State University. It is pointed out that gains made by thrifty, well-fed young animals are much larger and more economical based on live weight and food consumed, than those of mature animals.

The enormous damage done each year by insects and plant diseases is pointed out by experts at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster. Entomologists have estimated that the codling moth alone causes a loss of eight and a half million dollars to apple growers of the United States, they point out.

A request to the station will bring a spray calendar giving the formula, time and directions for applying the sprays to practically all kinds of orchard trees.

The program was drawn up by spraying authorities during this winter, and now is ready for distribution.

A definite plan for organizing and financing cooperative commission houses at Cleveland, Pittsburg and Buffalo will be formulated by a board of the Ohio Live Stock Shippers' Association and presented to the association at its next meeting which probably will be held in three or four weeks, according to S. W. Doty of the livestock department of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation. The board was appointed at the annual meeting of the association here February 27 and 28.

At this meeting of more than 100 members of the association, the forming of a corporation in which each county livestock shippers' association would take part seemed to meet with general approval.

That the heavy cabbage crop of the southern states will not affect materially the price of the local crop, is the belief of specialists at Ohio State University. The report of an exceptionally heavy crop around Mobile, Ala., had alarmed local growers, but the Ohio State experts declare there is no cause for this, due to the wide difference in rates of marketing.

The southern crop will be ready for shipping about the middle of March, where usually it is not on the market until April 1. On account of this early harvesting and due to the fact that there usually is little, if any competition between the southern crop and the local one, it is believed that the cities can consume all of it.

Poultrymen lose several thousand dollars each year from chicken pox, and its after effect, including roup, colds and canker, according to Prof. E. L. Dakan of the department of poultry husbandry at Ohio State University.

Recent investigations carried on by prominent veterinarians are said to have produced a cure for all forms of chicken pox in the form of a bacteria, which is injected under the fowl's skin.

NEW ORLEANS—Three hundred tramps arriving here on single freight train from Texas points, were guests of New Orleans today, some of them being entertained at police stations and others visiting points of interest about town.

GOVERNOR SMALL PUT ON TRIAL

Illinois Executive Faces Court on Embezzlement Charge

50 REPORT FOR JURY DUTY

Legal Battle Expected to Last Two Months

WALKER, Ill.—(United Press)—Governor Len Small faced trial today on charges of conspiracy to embezzle state funds.

Small, the prosecution alleges, conspired to juggle millions in state funds in order to "pocket" interest that should have been turned into the exchequer of Illinois.

It is alleged Small conspired with Lieutenant Governor Fred Sterling and Vernon Curtis, Grant Park banker, to steal the state's cash.

Millions were taken from the state treasury, the prosecution will seek to prove, and loaned to the Grant Park State Bank, of which Curtis is head, at two per cent interest.

Curis, according to the indictment, then loaned the money to Chicago packers at from five to eight and a half per cent. The difference in interest was to be kept by the three, according to the conspiracy allegations.

Truck loads full of evidence to be used in the trial jogged into Walker today.

These consisted of crates containing records of the state treasurer's office and books of Chicago packers and bankers.

The trial will cost the state of Illinois close to $500,000, it was estimated.

Small, indicted at Springfield, the state capital, last July, claimed immunity from arrest.

50 VENTRIMEN REPORT

"The king can do no wrong," was the plea of his counsel.

He was overruled and the sheriff ordered to arrest the executive. Small, however, started on an inspection trip of the roads of the state. He returned after a month's absence and "invited" the sheriff to the state house to arrest him.

Change of venue to Lake-on was granted on the governor's plea he could not get a fair trial at Springfield.

Fifty ventriment reported for jury duty today. C. C. LeForge, Small's counsel, and Fred Mortimer, chief prosecutor, agreed it would take several weeks to choose a jury and that the trial would perhaps last nearly two months.

Sterling will be tried at Springfield and Curis at Waukegan after disposition to the Small case.

The governor has opened a temporary state "hospital" at the Salvation Army here. He has brought with him his executive staff to dispose of state business during the course of the trial.

CORPORATIONS IN OHIO INCREASE

2,000 Added in Year. State Tax Commission Reports

COLUMBUS—The number of domestic corporations doing business in Ohio last year was nearly 2,000 more than in 1920, according to figures just given out by the state tax commission.

The amount of franchise tax paid to the state last year by the 19,057 domestic corporations, under the Willis law, was $4,842,585, an increase of more than a million dollars over the year 1920, the commission reported.

New corporations certified by the secretary of state totaled 3,740.

Foreign corporations organized under laws of other states numbered 1,551 and paid fees aggregating $1,189,295, an increase of more than a quarter of a million dollars for one year, the report said.

The commission has returns from 1,164 public utilities and the excise tax on these companies amounted to $7,582,964, levied on gross receipts and gross earnings.

CHAOS THREATENS GREAT BRITAIN

Premier Wants to Quit But Fears Consequences

DECISION IS DUE TOMORROW

Balfour's Speech Expected to Bring the Climax

LONDON—(Associated Press)—Within 24 hours, or at most 48 hours, the world will know definitely whether Prime Minister Lloyd George has decided to resign or continue at chief of the coalition government.

This is the only substantial conviction emerging from a tangle of contradictory rumors in the crisis which engrossed political observers over Saturday and Sunday.

Experts today were diametrically opposed in their opinion as to how the crisis stood as a result of week-end conferences, some declaring that the outlook for a continuance of the coalition was improved and encouraged belief that the prime minister would resign.

Others declared all signs pointed to his retirement and that Liberal colleagues in his ministry would go with him. Some were content to refrain from committing themselves to any opinion whether the result would be a snapshop or a patch up.

DETERMINED TO RESIGN

Even if the prime minister stays nobody believes that the coalition can last much longer than it may be prolonged until Irish legislation and the Genoa conference are out of the way.

It is generally credited in certain quarters that nothing will be definitely announced until the speech of Sir Arthur Balfour on Tuesday. It is declared that the pre-eminent interest in Sir Arthur's utterances will be a positive declaration as to the prime minister's decision.

If this expression is for resignation of Mr. Lloyd George, Sir Arthur will not in any event assume the premiership, according to repeated statements made today, but would be willing to take office under Austen Chamberlain as prime minister.

Mr. Chamberlain is government leader in the house of commons.

Friends of Lloyd George assert he is exceedingly tired and will gladly quit responsibilities of his office. If he holds on it will only be because of recognition that chaos is likely to follow his retirement in the present peculiar circumstances.

Whether he goes or stays, he has decided to take an immediate holiday which he will probably enjoy at his country home in Criccieth, a small watering place in Wales, in the county of Carnarvon on Cardigan bay. If he does not resign this vacation will practically fill the entire period until the Genoa conference.

PLAN FOR WORLD UPHEAVAL FAILS

Russian Leaders Now Decided on New Movement

MOSCOW—(Associated Press)—A conference of all the Socialist internationalists to discuss the formation of a united front on world problems affecting capital and labor was recommended by the executive leaders of the third international of Moscow after a two weeks' discussion here. The vote was 46 to 10.

The resolutions passed mentioned the various internationalists with which a conference is favored—the second or pre-war organization, the second and a half of the organization formed at Vienna last year and which recently held a meeting in Paris, is termed, and the fourth international.

Leon Trotsky and other Russian chiefs were instrumental in hastening this decision explained that the move simply was in keeping with new tactics having as their purpose a flank attack on capitalism instead of the open battle for an immediate world revolution.

Throughout the conference both the Russian leaders and the newspapers dwelt upon the idea that the direct attack for a world revolution had failed.

"The victory we expected now seems farther away," says the Ives-dispatch. "The Bourgeoisie have held on and the second international, which we considered dead, is again on its feet. The communistic international has not become a decisive force to change historical developments."

According to some of the speakers at the conference the internationalists should concentrate now on "revolutionary minimalism" instead of making the old broad demands for a dictatorship of the proletariat.

The principal objects of the united front which is desired, according to Carl Istad, are to gain recognition of Soviet Russia, the abandonment of reparations from Germany, the eight hour day and the solution of the unemployment problem.

MILADY has a most wonderful assortment of frocks fashioned with singular imagination, enhanced with many gorgeous colors and such a wide variety of styles, colors and manifold assortments to choose from when she crowds into Lima style shops she needs must be careful or she will be completely bewildered over just what garment to select.

Truly she has one for her every mood, for her every disposition and no matter how unusual her nature or how difficult she is to please, she will have to admit that a Utopia it could not afford a much better variety to pick from.

The window displays of stores were so pleasing that window-shopping, while not exactly profitable to the merchant, at least set my mind in a whirl, filling it with a thousand fairy colors I repeat, a thousand, or possibly two, different colors for the display of gowns, suits and frocks was indeed varied. One could scarcely describe one and do justice to all or even a part of those on display and hidden away in the mysterious corners of Mr. Style Man's Shop of Lady Wonder.

ASSORTMENT IS LARGE

Jack Well, chock full of ideas about new gowns and frocks, met me at the Leiser company, interested with showing me about everything he had in stock. He didn't think. Reason enough. He couldn't. At least not in one day and give me time to inspect thoroughly or even partly the hundreds of pretty things his shop contained.

A number of unusually attractive suits are shown at this up-to-the-minute shop, Main and North-sts, not the least of which was a sports model "rock of red herringbone in which white predominated to a great extent making it more subdued than one would ordinarily think of a suit with this ground color. The seams are tapered and rounded off to the front which makes for the very smart patch pockets which predominate and the back is treated in a like manner.

At this same shop I saw an unusual good looking sport coat made of smart black and white English men's suiting. It was cut over the regular men's lines and the raglan fashion which could be used with a full-belted blouse or it might be belted.

FABRIC HATS SCORE

NEW YORK—Fabric hats will be worn a very great deal this summer. They come in all of the lovely tones in which one wants their summer frocks. Silkyway brocade, draped softly over the frame, makes a delicately beautiful background for the huge flower poised at the front of this hat.

a long tie sash collar embroidered to match and harmonize with the cape. Capes, I noted particularly, seem popular with the cozier frocks and they look neat and attractive. It is true not so many as to be common are being worn at the present time, but they are the coming thing, girls, the coming thing. The shops so tell us and judging from the number in stock at the various Lima stores, it must be the real honest-to-goodness George Washington stuff.

NEW TWEED SUITS

Bernard's had a most excellent and attractive showing of tweed suits in varied styles and weaves. I was assured at this smart shop, 112 N. Elizabeth st., that tweeds are the real popular thing. And so, Mrs. Wife and Miss Young Lady, you can match the suit of your hubby or friend for Fashion has decreed that Mere Man must wear tweeds and herringbones to be real "up-to-snuff," too.

Tweeds really are neat, tho, and with the American woman taking an active part in the business world as she is today, they make a fine business outfit. For dress they are mighty neat also, which is probably the reason Bernard's sell so many and have such a large stock.

I found a number of smart sport coats at this shop, too and taffeta dresses. Here, too, I found those coming cape dresses and three-piece ones of crepe not. Those sport coats were surely the thing, tho. Leather belts trimmed in contrasting colors afforded an ideal color scheme that can scarcely be duplicated.

Things Dear to Heart of Every Woman

(BY BETTY)

REALLY no one realizes what a difficult and almost hopeless proposition it is, endeavoring to keep one's self well posted and informed on all of the new and up-to-date spring fashions.

Just as I was beginning to flatter myself into thinking that I had a fairly good conception of the newer styles, I found I was gravely mistaken. Almost daily some charming new fashion feature is introduced and unless I watch very closely the latest versions of the recently-launched fashions for spring, I find myself sadly lost in this "beau monde."

Having heard that the new spring blouses are especially fascinating and attractive I visited Blum's. And such gorgeous blouses as I found—the most distinctive models of the season. They actually have the color and charm quality of a fairy tale and suggest spring in all of its loveliness.

One blouse in particular, which appealed to me was one of Madame Plauder's delightful models. It was fashioned of navy blue Canton crepe. An exquisite fancy hand embroidered design in Dutch blue and sumac enhanced the beauty. Another blouse, lovely in its simplicity, was a carnation Canton crepe. The only decoration consisted of an attractive design in very fine krepe knit. This also was a Madame Plauder's model.

ASSORTMENT IS LARGE

I was told that the hand made fleur de lis voile blouses are very popular at present. Some dainty ones in orchid, peach or a white were shown me. White collars with fillet lace gave a rich touch to these sheer blouses. And the pretty new dimity blouses, too. There is nothing so crisply Springlike in blouses as one of sheer white dimity, and that, exactly why they are first in favor to wear with the sporty and youthful tweed suits.

I was immensely fascinated with the new spring skirts. They are lovely! Baronet satin, pussy willow silk, crepe knit and crepe sponge are among the most popular materials for spring skirts.

The Leader is showing a very extensive line of suits both in the smartly tailored tweed (ape suits, which are the vogue of the moment, as well as suits in poret twill, needlecord and various other materials.

One striking outfit, which charmed me in particular was a tailored suit in Johnny Walker tweed cloth. The entire coat was effectively edged in very dark brown. The skirt was also smartly trimmed in the brown to correspond with the coat.

Another clever cape suit was of light blue imported tweed with a canna colored stripe. A jaunty and modish effect was given to this outfit by the fringed bottom of the skirt.

A handsome straight lined taffet in needlecord, which was shown me, should certainly meet the demands of the most discriminating. The coat, which was artistically braided, was lined with crepe de chine. Another stylish suit was of midnight blue needlecord, heavily embroidered.

NEW KNICKER SUITS

Journeying to Gordon's I was deeply interested in the new knicker suits. They are so very jaunty and clever and I have concluded that one's whole spring wardrobe can contain nothing more useful than one of the knicker suits. They are wonderful for golfing, hiking, motoring, skating or for any out-of-door job.

My attention was called to a very attractive, yet simple frock of brown Canton crepe. It was effectively and very heavily adorned with the nail-head trimming, which is said to be quite popular this year. Another pretty gown was a canna Canton crepe with trimmings of steel added greatly to the gracefulness of the costume.

At Gordon's I was also shown a large assortment of the new sport coats for spring as well as the cape suits.

Perhaps some will be extremely shocked and I can't say something which was shown at Hughes and Son, but certainly no one could help but express his or her delight and fascination over this small article which was no other than a ladies cigarette case in hammered silver. It was so very dainty and novel, having a mesh handle and a sapphire catch. Then, too, I was deeply interested in the new sterling silver powder boxes, which have been offered only recently.

Very attractive, indeed are the new vanities, which are being shown by the same jeweler. They come in Copenhagen blue and old rose leather as well as in brown satin and will be delightful with the lovely new spring apparel. They contain a small powder puff, a lip stick, purse and bill fold. Certainly all that a woman's heart could possibly desire!

They are wonderful for golfing, hiking, motorcycling, skating or for any out-of-door sport.

My attention was called to a very attractive, yet simple frock of brown Canton crepe. It was effectively and very heavily adorned with the roll-head trimming, which is said to be quite popular this year. Another pretty gown was a canna Canton crepe with trimmings of steel added greatly to the gracefulness of the costume.

At Gordon's I saw a shown a large assortment of the new sport coats for spring as well as the cape suits.

Perhaps some will be extremely shocked and I am not at all surprised, which was shown me at Hughes and Son, but certainly no one could help but express his or her delight and fascination over this small article, which was no other than a ladies cigarette case in hammered silver. It was so very dainty and novel, having a mesh handle and a sapphire catch. Then, too, I was deeply interested in the new spring silver powder boxes, which have been received only recently.

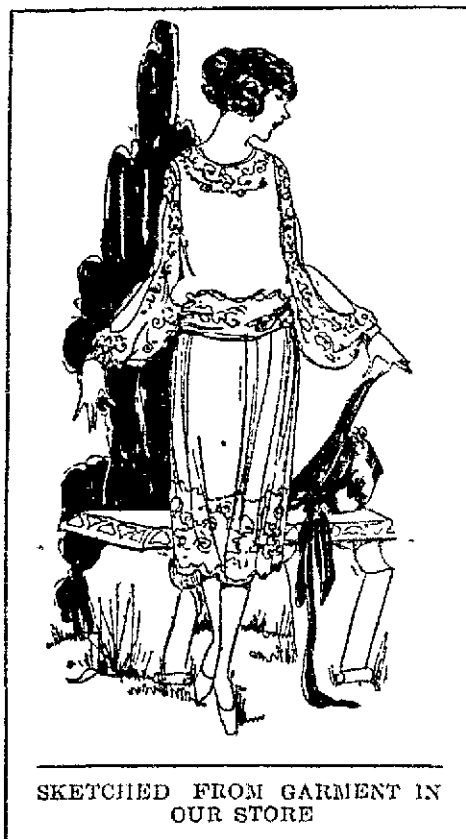

Very attractive, indeed, are the new vauities, which are being shown by the same jeweler. They come in Copenhagen blue and old rose leather as well as in brown suede and will be delightful with the lovely new spring apparel. They contain a small powder puff, a lip stick, purse and bill fold. Certainly all that a woman's heart could possibly desire!

SHOE STYLES

NEW ARRIVALS AT LOCAL SHOPS

To be modish and yet conservative—that is the aim of the well-dressed woman of today, and where shoes are concerned millinery cannot overlook the two qualities.

For wear with the gorgeous new spring apparel, local shoe dealers have on display a line of distinguished and distinctly smart footwear that fairly breathe the spirit of spring and newness.

Gooding's Shoe store, in announcing the new line of spring and summer styles, are featuring several clever models, among them a striking patent and grey suede combination, a slipper with a black patent vamp and soft grey quarters and covered, high heels. The strap, in the new double effect is further enhanced by a clever cut-work design on the side. These new combinations are especially good this season, according to Mr. Gooding, and are quite economical because they are appropriate for both street and dress wear.

A most fetching fashion in the ever-popular black satin is shown at Gooding's, a variation of the Sally sandal, with narrow strap extending from the toe, and crossed by two straps on the instep. With the covered Louis or Spanish heel, this number is extremely good looking.

Another of the black satins is developed with a single strap, fastening on the side with a clever buckle.

The black patent "Gator" pump, with the new silk elastic inserts in the side, strike an entirely new note in fashionable footwear and are proving mighty popular among the well-dressed. A feature of this new pump is the trimness about the ankle and the absence of any bulkiness or broken lines.

NEW ARRIVALS SHOWN
At Crawford's Bootery, new arrivals are being shown, many in the season's new color, nude, and a number of clever models in black satin and patent.

Rows of double stitching embellish several of the new satin strapped pumps, buckles adorn others, and all have the covered heel, be it high, low or the "go-between," Junior Louis.

An attractive little patent model, just suited to the girl or matron who likes to combine comfort and good style, is a pump with a rounded toe, low covered heel and intricate cut out pattern in the vamp. This pump is smart and practical, to say the least.

For the business girl and for the miss who just dotes on the new sport togs, tony red oxfords, in heavy calf-skin, with blucher toe, low heel and rows and rows of perforations on quarter and tip, are swagger and up to the minute.

Grey has not been entirely relegated to the background, and one of the very newest spring models is a grey oxford, with military heel and plain toe. Worn with the tailleur on street frock, these grey oxfords provide the maximum of good looks and chic effectiveness.

BEADS LEND COLOR

THIS is the last of six articles on styles for girls, written by Mary Pickford. Mary recently returned from Paris, where she collaborated with Madame Jeane Lanvin, the most celebrated designer of youthful frocks in the world, in designing her dresses.

By MARY PICKFORD
THIS delightful little Lanvin frock is of black velvet trimmed with narrow bands of narrow bands of white moufflon, while an additional note of color is added by a design of bright blue beads.

st, surely had a variety of fine suits and for prices — well, most any price to fit most any purse. From $19.75 to $49.50.

For spring wear this firm was featuring Rosemary dresses, the work of recent Parisian innovators. The old high standard of Rosemary dresses continues to hold sway. They have charm, especially for the early spring, and are really almost indispensable to Milady's wardrobe.

One of them, a fine crepe Roma frock for the promenade and dinner becomes the matron or the debutante with a certain equal amount of grace. It comes in colors of black, navy, brown, Phantom blue and Egyptian red. In another there was considerable sheeriness of Georgette in the panels and sleeve joints with the charm of Canton Crepe in a harmonious composition of artistic designs. And for semi-formal occasions, well — where can you find anything that will offer much of an improvement on this? Oh, yes, I almost forgot — the scallops are bead trimmed.

When the springtime breezes start to blow this shop doesn't worry for it has a suit to fill the day's bill in quite the proper fashion. It is of Canton Crepe and has received early acceptance. Also trimmed with beads. Color combinations afford an unusual choice: black and citron, black and pumpkin, Navy and Phantom blue, Navy and Egyptian red, black and Empire green.

For Milady who desires a promenade frock that offers considerable individuality this shop has a soft, Crepe Mongol outfit that is real smart. Satin beads trim the skirt and wide sleeves. Tabs answer for girdle and the new lengthened panel presents a new skirt vogue. The colors are in black, Navy, brown and Phantom blue.

It's a wise tip the shop owners gave me to give to you, too, and that is to do your spring buying right now. You're going to have a wider selection and there's nothing like a big stock to draw from. Individuality can have better play and we will all be better pleased if we get that which sincerely pleases.

So hail! And bon matin to spring! And spring brings Easter, the time Milady must shake off the dust of her old clothes and shop for new.

LEATHER POLISH

Two parts linseed oil and one part vinegar makes a very fine polish for leather. It should be applied with a soft cloth. This softens the leather while it cleans and thus prevents cracking.

REMOVING STAINS

Ammonia is the best medium for removing iodine stains on fabric.

LADY JANE'S WEEKLY LETTER

Dear Readers--

Walking along America's Rue De Paix, better known as Fifth-av, one is firmly impressed with the air that the Paris coutouriers bring to the garments, which are worn by American women. It appears that the Grecian themes are prevailing to a great extent, which calls for tapering sleeves and graceful drapings, and in these handsome garments the beaded gown, not alone prevails but is holding the centre of the Style Show.

The costume here pictured attracted my attention in one of the show windows and was extremely attractive. It was made of a very fine Crepe Faille. It had the lovely new Jenny sleeves which were slit at a point just above the elbow and tied most daintily at the wrist. It is trimmed with brass buttons and wool braid embroidery in contrasting colors, along with a gilt girdle, studded with various colored sets. And was moderately priced at Forty-Nine Fifty.

Oh! I must tell you about a wonderful three piece suit which I saw in one of the Shops. It was made of a very fine quality Poirer Twill in the new Sand shade, the dress was strictly tailored, with two large pockets on the skirt and trimmed with horn buttons in a contrasting shade. The seams were all strapped of the same material. The cape, coming below the waist line, had a graceful semblance of a bell sleeve which was really made by the cuff itself, silk tassels of navy blue tipped the cord which tied the cape as well as the girdle of the same material used on the dress. This wonderful conception was priced at One Hundred and Twenty-Five Dollars.

Saw in one of the Shops, known for its exclusive Millinery, an entire window of straw hats in the new Periwinkle shade. These were in a variety of shapes, many of which featured extended horse hair brims while others were beautifully trimmed with maline, ribbon and flowers in a shade to match.

Truly yours,

Lady Jane

CHRISTY BLAMES MEN FOR MAKING FLAPPERS

HOWARD CHANDLER CHRISTY AND REPRODUCTION OF HIS PORTRAIT OF MRS. CHRISTY.

(BY ALICE ROHE)

NEW YORK — For 25 years Howard Chandler Christy has set the fashion in American girls.

Continually in that quarter of a century, this popular illustrator has sent the Christy girl into every corner of the globe where American magazines are read.

Today Howard Chandler Christy, portrait painter as well as illustrator, is still setting girl styles.

"What do I think of the changes in the American girl?" he repeated, pausing before a joyous, decorative panel he was painting, portraying the radiant figure of a young girl.

"Well, I like her better today than ever. Of course, I do not refer to the flapper. The real American girl has certainly changed since first I began to draw her.

"With finer clothing and freer thinking girls have improved physically and mentally. Think of those cosseted, high-heeled, rather stiff girls of 25 years ago and the uncensored, free young persons of today! The American girl has not been hurt in the least, by her broader education and knowledge.

"But again I say I do not refer to the flapper who is—well—I don't like her!"

"Do you believe that artists establish types—in real life?"

"Perhaps—but no artist is responsible for the flapper."

"But you draw flappers, don't you—?"

"Oh, yes, I have to—she is a very noticeable figure in our modern life."

"To whom should one lay the blame for the flapper?"

"Well, I have noticed that whenever a sweet, refined, innocent, simple girl enters a room filled with flappers, all the men hake for the sweet young girl at once."

"Yes, and then—?"

"And then they immediately proceed to make a flapper of her!" he replied.

"So far as art is concerned—there is much more latitude in drawing the modern girl than there was in drawing her mother or aunt. Athletics, sports of all kinds, the war, liberal education, business—everything, gives her more varying phases!"

SHE FEARS ONLY NEW YORK

NEW YORK.—Henriette Sava-Gou and the world's most interesting cities as she sees them. "New York is the city I love better than any other. Because New York is the only city which makes me fear. I am afraid of New York!"

That is her opinion of America's greatest city. Henriette is a Rumanian princess. She has visited all large cities.

LAUNDRY BAG

A very useful laundry bag can be made with two pieces of cretonne. One piece of fabric should be about ten inches longer than the other. They should be seamed together at the sides and the ten inches at the bottom finished with a hem and buttonholes—so that it can be buttoned on the opposite side of the bag. This for emptying the bag. The top should be seamed together in a circular line to fit a coat hanger. About four inches from the top there should be a slit large enough to allow putting in soiled garments.

SOUP THICKENING

Oatmeal is excellent for thickening soup. It gives the soup a flavor which is pleasing also.

EVENING FOOTWEAR

Two models are generally conceded to be best for evening footwear. They are the sandal and the slipper without a strap. The latter is usually trimmed with a rhinestone buckle.

MUCH TRIMMED

More trimming than ever is being used on evening gowns. Very gorgeous effects are suggested by strass and crystal bead embroidery.

MOCK CREAM

A very good substitute for whipped cream can be made with two egg whites, one cup of powdered sugar and a large apple. Grate the apple into a bowl, add the sugar and egg whites and beat until stiff and white.

Ah—but there is romance in the world even yet! These women say so. There is romance in going to church: There is romance in going about with only that stupid brother of yours and there is romance even in working overtime! They say so—these women of note, and so one must believe! And must feel a little kinder toward the spoil one's plans because—well, you stupid things which come along and never can tell!

VERY LATEST IN SUMMER HATS IS SWEET AFFAIR

SHAW'S CYCLE LASTS LONG—Presentation of George Bernard Shaw's "Back to Methuselah" by the Theatre Guild this week for the first time anywhere marks a new epoch in American theatricals.

It brings the cycle play to the American stage. The drama is the most pretentious in Shaw's pretentious career.

A Cincinnati man has sprung the very latest in summer hats. The one in the picture is a sample of his work. 'Tis a sweet affair. It is a take-off on straw material and is deep purple with a lighter shade of ribbon and lilac blue flowers.

The maker explains that it is not necessary to take this hat off on hot sunshiny summer days. Give it time and it will melt off! For the maker is a confectioner. And the hat is all made out of sugar candy.

DUKE IN DUEL—Duke Torlonia, shown here, engaged in a duel with Count Lovatelli, noted sculptor, in Italy. They met with swords "on the field of honor" following a quarrel over a statue for which the Duchess Torlonia, above, posed.

UNWILLING BRIDE—Julia Mahanna, 21, Newark, N. J., six-day bride of Rev. M. Simon Younan, 57, New Britain, Conn., is seeking annulment of the marriage, claiming it was made under duress.

Chic in the extreme!

Colorful and smart.

Spring Blouses

are the making of sports and dress costume. They have been fashioned for slender new lines, and are enlivened by brilliant touches of unique flower and motif trimming. A small pongee model bound in bright orange braid, and with cleverly blended carnation flowers that formed a fastening for the belt at the side in front comes from Madame Flanders, and is especially suitable for the miss of eighteen or more years. For the matron we have never shown a more complete and attractive selection. Navy predominates this field and Canton crepe is the preferred material. It yields readily to the graceful designing, that characterizes all of them. Flower decorations are cut from crepe knit, and similar new materials. We will be glad to make your visit interesting. Come in soon.

SASHES

Sashes are being worn much. Scarcely does a dress pretend to afternoon wear but it sports a very handsome and very colorful sash.

WHITE SPOTS

White spots on furniture, oil-cloth or linoleum can be removed by an application of camphor.

COATS

Sport coats for summer wear are built on straight lines. Many of the smartest of them have a single button to fasten them at the throat and are unbelted.

HATS

Very large soft-brimmed hats are being shown for summer. They are invariably ornamented heavily with flowers.

RED COVER

Red, a very bright red oil cloth, makes an unusually effective table covering for a dark corner. Usually the place for such a material is in the kitchen, but occasionally one sees it in studios and sitting rooms and in the dull light the effect is really quite lovely.

BURNED KETTLES

When the bottom of a kettle becomes scorched fill the kettle with cold water, add a few lumps of soda and boil for a few minutes.

PUDDING HINT

When you have no suet handy and need a little for puddings, chop some fresh dripping and use it in place of suet. It will answer quite as well.

THE SEARCH

When the studio-party had broken up and Polly, with a little engineering from Norma Bradley, had started ahead with Barry, Violet watched them with narrowed eyes. There was neither moon nor glamor in the night for her. It was a novel experience for her to be unused in any man's attentions. Yet Polly Dawson, the insignificant bride of a man too good for her, a man who was devoted only because it was the American fashion for a husband to adore his wife — Polly Dawson had twice succeeded in attracting George Barry away from her.

She walked to a nearby boulevard and waited until a night-prowling taxicab came along. "To Narveau's!" she commanded. And when they reached there, she paid the extortionate fare absently, while the driver smiled. She hurried into the gold-and-crimson reception room and asked the caretaker, "Has Monsieur Barry been here?"

"Non, Madame, pas ce soir," he bowed obsequiously, recognizing her as a frequent visitor. "Will Madame wait?"

Violet glimpsed several familiar faces among the dancers in the other room. They saw her. They would wonder — The caretaker and waiters would speculate on her coming.

"No," she replied sharply and hastened out, choosing one of the many cabs that waited along the curb. Should she order the man to drive her to Barry's bachelor apartment to see if he had "at last" gone home? She dismissed the thought....Pride had not quite departed.

She mentioned a street and number at random, and when the later ordered the driver to go instead thru the Bois, he shrugged laconically. Being an old, old Paris cabman, he was incapable of surprise.

Feverishly her thoughts tumbled on. Her head ached, her brain seemed hot and heavy. By a street lamp she looked at her watch. Half past four — and the first faint gray of dawn was breaking; the dawn that Polly and Barry were greeting so merrily at the door of the Little Cafe.

At the corner of the Avenue de l'Opera and the Rue d'Antin Violet finally dismissed the taxi and walked about until the hour was late enough for her decently to ring up the concierge of Polly's house. Six-thirty at last! And Mme. Dubois opened the big doors of No. 19 and came out with pail and broom.

No — Mme. Dawson was not in. Had not, in fact, returned. She had probably stopped the night with her friend, Mlle. Bradley.

"Ah?" Violet's smile was deadly sweet. "I wonder."

PIMENTO BUTTER

Pimento butter is after wanted for sandwiches and is easily made. Cream two tablespoons of butter with one canned pimento, pressed thru a sieve; blend well and add salt.

FOR INITIALS

When initialing handkerchiefs bastie the corners of four of them together so they form a solid square. Then the embroidery rings can be put on them easily.

FANS

Last year we had the mask fan. This year the smartest fans that are shown are very large. Some which one sees at the theaters and smart eating places must be quite three feet across.

CARE OF NAILS

To prevent finger nails from cracking rub a little cold cream or ordinary vaseline into them each night. This softens and nourishes them and gives them a healthy, well-kept look.

SMART TOGS FOR MISSES

(BY MARIAN HALE)

NEW YORK — Summer togs for the little miss of 7 or 8 are quite as smart as those designed for her mother. The same loose beltings and cleverly cut and tailored collars are found on her coats, and her hats, just as are mother's, are procurable in the very fabrics of which her frocks and wraps are made. The costuming of the small girl is a delight and an art.

A popular fabric for the fashioning of girl's wraps and hats is En Tour, which is used for the model shown. En Tour is of medium weight and turns the dust nicely.

LENTEN DISHES

By SISTER MARY

Left-over fish lends itself to made dishes most happily. Salads, timbales, souffles and even soups are delicious made from the remnants of last night's dinner.

Do not put left-over fish in the refrigerator in an uncovered dish. Fish quickly taints milk or butter.

FISH PIE

One and one-half cups cold cooked fish, 1½ cups cold mashed potato, 2 eggs, 1 tablespoon coarse bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, few gratings nutmeg, milk.

Flake fish free from skin and bones. Pour over lemon juice, sprinkle with nutmeg, salt and pepper and let stand 15 minutes. Add potato, butter (melted), parsley and eggs and beat well. Add enough milk to make soft but not thin.

Turn into a well buttered baking dish, cover with crumbs and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve at once.

FISH TIMBALES

One cup cold cooked fish, 1 cup thick white sauce, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon minced celery leaves or 2 tablespoons minced celery stalk, salt and pepper. Make the white sauce using two tablespoons flour to one cup milk. One to three tablespoons butter may be used. When thick and smooth remove from fire and stir in fish. Add egg slightly beaten and remaining ingredients.

Pour into well buttered molds and bake in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven for 45 minutes.

TWO CUPS COLD COOKED FISH, 1 cup macaroni, ½ cup grated cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ½ cup milk.

Remove skin and bones from fish and separate in large flakes. Break macaroni in inch pieces and cook in boiling salted water for 20 minutes, drain and blanch.

Put a layer of fish in a well buttered baking dish, season with salt and paprika and cover with a layer of macaroni. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Continue layer for layer until all is used. Pour over milk and bake half an hour in a hot oven. Dot with bits of butter over the top before baking.

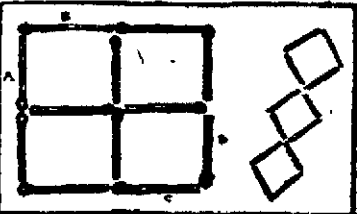

FISH LOAF

Two cups cold fish, 1 cup mashed potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, salt and pepper, milk, bread crumbs.

Melt butter in sauce pan, add fish coarsely flaked, potatoes, yolk of egg, salt and pepper and milk to make moist enough to mold. Stir over the fire till heated thru.

Spread on a platter to cool. Shape in a loaf, brush over with the white of the egg slightly beaten, sprinkle with bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven till brown. Serve with tomato sauce.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart:
A SHORT time ago I met a young man of excellent character and have been keeping steady company with him. Recently I heard he has been married. The party not knowing positive, do you think I should discontinue because of this hearsay, or do you think I should inquire more thoroughly? Would it be proper to ask the young man if he has been married?

A HUMMING BIRD

N O, do not break off your friendship with the young man until you verify the statement concerning his marriage. False reports spread so rapidly that it is unjust and unfair to accuse a friend of deceit unless we are positive of our charge.

It is very probable that the one who informed you of this man's marriage told you in good faith and intended no harm. However, it is always well to investigate for ourselves. Ask this party from whom he or she received information concerning your friend's marriage. It is only fair that you should know if you do not seem to receive much satisfaction this way, it would be proper for you to tell your friend what you heard and ask him to tell you the truth.

Dear Miss Smart:
Is there any place in Lima where you can leave your application to be a companion to a lady of good standing? Is there in any other city than Lima — one that is not such a great distance from here?

JEAN
You might insert an advertisement in The Lima News or see Mrs. Julia Simpson, who is in charge of the employment bureau at the Y. W. C. A., Morris Arcade. She will probably be able to assist you.

Dear Miss Smart:
(1) We are two high school girls who would like to know what to serve at a St. Patrick's party. (2) How late do you think girls of 16 and 17 should keep a party? (3) Do you think having our hair bobbed will benefit it in any way? (4) What do you think of my writing?

THE BRIGHT EYES
(1) The green and white color scheme, significant of St. Patrick's Day can be carried out most artistically in the lunch at a party in honor of the celebrated saint. You might serve varied sandwiches, all with lettuce trimmings showing, salad made of sliced pepper rings filled with white cream cheese and nuts, garnished with a green cherry and placed on lettuce; olives, salted nuts, fancy ice cream in the form of pipes, harps or shamrocks, green iced cakes or cookies, green and white hard candies and coffee. (2) Let your mothers do the deciding in this matter. The party should not last any later than 11 o'clock. (3) Yes, providing the hair is not curled too frequently. The continual curling tends to either burn the hair or break off the ends. (4) Very good

LACE
Lace, if it is to look its loveliest, should not be starched. Pressing while it is damp makes it about right. If stiffening is needed a small quantity of gum arabic is all that is necessary.

"SUZANNA" IS MABEL NORMAND'S NEXT PICTURE

(By ESTHER WAGNER)

MABEL NORMAND'S current production, "Suzanna," is about half completed. Mack Sennett expects to have it ready for release next June.

"Suzanna" is an adaptation of a new novel of the same name by Winston Wells. The action takes place in the California of 1835.

Wells, who is working in close cooperation with the producers, tells me that the picture will be historically true to the most minute detail when finally completed.

Advance photographs sent show

Mabel Normand as a boydenish maid in Indian costume and feather headpiece. To some this may not seem historically correct. Neither Indians nor frontiersmen are credited with a sense of humor or a love of fun in histories.

Wells' version of history promises more veracity than school textbooks. A race without a sense of humor or the love of fun could not have faced the hardships of pioneering.

To the light-hearted goes the battle. That was why doughboys were compelled to sing on the march.

Bravo for Wells! He has written the joy of life into history.

A Royal Love Story—at the Sigma

HIGHLY artistic in every respect is the William Fox production of the great historical story "The Queen of Sheba," and because of the fact that the visit of the famous queen to the court of King Solomon is more or less mythical, the producers have taken the opportunity to make it a cinematic holiday. Biblical students, it is true, may gaze upon the film and raise their hands in dismay. Not many will care for the picture as it stands is beautiful.

You've seen so-called costume and spectacular plays before, but never one as elaborate as this one. Sets, costumes, and scenes, etc., have been provided regardless of expense. Actors have been chosen who know their business. Among these one shines out clear and un-faithfully beautiful—Betty Blythe, as the queen herself.

Theda Bara, or even Pola Negri, perhaps would have appeared vulgar in some clothes for lack of clothes) in which Miss Blythe appears. This girl, however, seems unconscious of her beauty, and never offends. Mr. Fitz Leiber as King Solomon, doesn't wear a beard and for that reason you like him at once. Tradition tells us that all Hebrews of rank wore beards but Mr. Fox wanted this one to go without—and he did.

And little David! Pat Moore in the role of the son, does a fine bit of acting. Not that Solomon and Sheba ever had a son named David—there is one legend that there was a son called Menelik, or something like that—but David is a pretty name, so they gave him that one.

The chariot race is perhaps the most thrilling scene, where the queen drives the king's horses against Vashli, the camp, thereby winning the king's favor. Not that there ever was a chariot race, but Mr. Fox thought it would make a wonderful scene—and it does.

The director is to be complimented for his able and thorough handling of so important a screen drama. Miss Blythe, Mr. Leiber and all the rest of the cast deserve credit for their impersonations.

"Queen of Sheba" is a picture that is decidedly worth seeing. It is one that should interest not only movie enthusiasts but all lovers of the artistic. Because it is artistic! The Sigma is featuring "Queen of Sheba" today and all this week.

Another DeMille Splurge—at the Faurot

ASIDE from the evident costliness and exotic beauty of the sets and backdrops, Cecil B. DeMille's latest "Fool's Paradise" has one outstanding feature. This is the work of Dorothy Dalton in the role of Poll Patchouli. Not that Conrad Nagel and Mildred Harris aren't convincing, but Miss Dalton's portrayal is so sincere, so full of pathos, that you are with her from the start.

Poor Conrad! He's cast as a turned soldier when eyes have gone on the blink, but whose life is made happy by the memory of a lovely little French dancer, who gave him a rose or something. I believe, and thereby became his idol. But she—ah, she sees so flightily, cold-hearted Rosa—and one more soldier more or less—

Poll Patchouli is the dazzling beauty who presides at a dance hall on the Mexican border and who has long been the desire of Roderique, a young Mexican. Rod flicks a wicked knife and doesn't hesitate to impress upon the girl that she is his—or will be before he gets thru with her. A fight at the dance hall necessitates Poll's leaving while the leaving is good, and she takes refuge at the cabin of Arthur Phelps, the ex-soldier, who sits by the hour and writes impassioned poetry to his beautiful Rose.

By a trick of fate and the resourcefulness of the authors, Arthur goes blind. Poll, in love with him, knowing that nothing but Rosa can ever save him, impersonates the French dancer and marries him under her name. She knows that as long as he is blind she is safe.

Comes the time when sight is restored. The discovery of the deceit, the denouncement, the leave-taking, after which Arthur goes across the sea to seek his lost love and Poll returns to the cantina.

Here, in St. Louis, where the lovely Rosa is staying, the ancient temple dances are incidentally invoking the love of a prince or two. Arthur finds her. And that's as far as I'm going to tell you.

The St. Louis temple stuff is beautiful and quite different from any former DeMille stunts. The crocodiles, horrible things, furnish a well-deserved thrill or two. One of the creatures is enough to inspire a deep and unforgettable terror, but a whole den of them—

"Fool's Paradise," while hardly the greatest of the DeMille accomplishments, certainly is an entertaining one. Miss Dalton—she's splendid, and so is Conrad Nagel, Theodore Rosoff as the devilish Roderique. Miss Harris—well, one can hardly confuse about here. The Faurot is offering "Fool's Paradise" today and all this week. Be sure and see it and judge for yourself whether it isn't a lovely film offering.

The WRONG FACE

ISABEL OSTRANDER

"Certainly. You know the bluish smoke and flame which is sometimes observed escaping from the exhaust pipe beneath the rear of the car?" the professor asked. "That is carbon monoxide."

"Would it be possible to convey this carbon monoxide in some way from the exhaust pipe of an automobile to a closed room?" Barry's voice trembled with excitement.

"Certainly!" the professor exclaimed, and the sheriff took a step forward. "A rubber tubing would convey it directly from the exhaust pipe into any sort of container, metal or otherwise. I understand what you mean, Sergeant Barry, and it is a most ingenious and practical theory! The container could be opened in a closed room and the carbon monoxide allowed to escape, or it could be directly forced into the lungs by means of the rubber tubing by which it had been introduced from the exhaust pipe. There have been more than one case of accidental death reported in the medical journals, in which chauffeurs, working in closed garages, have been overcome by the fumes and died before help could reach them. The theory of the use of the gas by burglars in the effort to render their victims insensible, has often occurred to me, in fact."

He broke off, and both hands clutched at his busy white hair in sudden consternation.

"My God! And I unwittingly described the very means by which the murder was committed here in the house, in the possible hearing of any of a score of people who might have utilized it for their purpose!"

"You?" The cry came simultaneously from the coroner and the sheriff, while Lieutenant Cadmus started forward.

"Yes, I mentioned this matter at the door—"

"Where did you hold this conversation?" the sheriff demanded. "In what part of the house or grounds?"

"In a corner of the library, and to my hostess. We were closely screened by tall, flowering shrubs that we could not see who else might enter but people were constantly passing. This is horrible!" the professor exclaimed.

"Did you mention also the way in which the carbon monoxide might be transferred from the exhaust pipe of a car to container, and how it might be used to asphyxiate people?" asked Barry.

"That would, of course, be the most important part to us."

"Yes, I did!" Professor Semynov groaned. "I am an enthusiastic idiot!"

Barry strolled around the house to the garage.

Barry found Frank, the chauffeur busily engaged in cleaning the large touring car, which together with Mrs. Tudor's own fast little racer and the station bus, occupied the space with the garage.

"Are these all the cars owned by the family, Frank?" Barry began without preamble.

The chauffeur looked up in surprise at the sudden inquiry.

"Yes, sir, except for the limousine which is being overhauled in town."

"Would you bear if any one started one of the cars running down here during the night?"

"I should say I would!" he responded. "Did somebody take one of these machines out last night for a joy ride during the dance?"

"Wouldn't you have known if they had?" Barry retorted.

The chauffeur shook his head.

"Not last night; I wasn't here. Mrs. Tudor gave me a night off on account of the dance, and I went to a movie in the village and stayed over with Pete Whaley, who runs the public garage. I got home here about nine o'clock and went straight to the garage, but it was all locked up tight just the way I had left it. There was one queer thing, tho."

"What was it?" the detective demanded as Frank hesitated.

"Well, it don't hardly seem worth mentioning, but it struck me just now as I was cleaning the touring car that there ought to be more gasoline in the tank, according to my calculations, than there is."

He shook his head. "I usually figure it out pretty close, but I must have made a mistake just now."

"Who has the keys to the garage besides yourself?" Barry changed the subject abruptly.

"Only Mrs. Tudor and poor Miss Laurel. The locks ain't been changed in three years."

"It rained hard last night," the detective remarked. "You didn't find any muddy tracks in here this morning, Frank, did you?"

"Only my own," he said. Then a strange, rather confused look came over his face. "I usually keep my floor like wax, sir, but I was kind of hurried last night and didn't hose it down. I didn't find any muddy footprints this morning, but I did see some queer dried smears here and there, as tho someone might have washed up the marks of their tread. Look here, sir—and here!"

He pointed, and Barry looked. There were clean places on the oily floor, as tho indeed someone had tried to obliterate their footprints. Barry went carefully over every yard of space. Then he straightened and inquired casually:

"How did you just learn of the trouble up at the house? Did Martha or another of the maids come out here to send you for the doctor?"

"No, sir. I'd gone up to the servants' dining room to have a cup of coffee, and was just sitting down to it when Martha came flying from the young ladies' room with her face as white as a sheet and told me to go as fast as I could—that Miss Laurel was dead."

Barry turned as if to depart, but at the threshold he dropped his handkerchief and, stooping to recover it, turned once more.

"By the way, I was having a little discussion with Lieutenant Cadmus a while ago about the exhaust of motors in general, and I asked if a rubber tube could be attached to some way to the exhaust pipe on a car and led out of doors, so that, when the engine was running the fumes would escape into the outer air. He says it could not be done; that the pressure of the exhaust would force the rubber tubing. What do you think?"

"Me? I think he's a stimp!" The retort came promptly. "Why, I've seen it done myself! It was done as an experiment, just as you said, sergeant, to see if the fumes could be driven directly out of the garage. It was extra heavy tubing, of course, and had been fastened on pretty tight, but it held all right."

"Is there any extra heavy tubing of that sort lying about the garage here?" demanded Barry. His voice had suddenly sharpened.

"Why, there was some." The chauffeur looked his wonderment. "We never used it, tho, and I don't know what has become of it. I'll look for it, sir, if you like."

"I wish you would."

He left and proceeded slowly to the house. When Frank had drawn his attention to the cleaned space, he had observed something which had escaped the other's eye: A tiny, rounded spot of mud with an elongated triangle in front of it.

Barry recognized the print of a small, high-heeled slipper, and he knew that when he had found it and its owner the search for this sinister Cinderella would be at an end.

He found Anna the cook, Louise and Martha all congregated in the kitchen, and a single glance at their feet assured him that none of them could have worn that fairylike slipper.

"Do you know if Mrs. Tudor has been out to the garage today?"

"Why, no, sir!" Martha stammered. "The poor lady hasn't been out of doors except for a minute on the front porch when the corner car came."

Barry dismissed the subject, and, asking where the telephone was, he called up Whaley's garage. Yes, Frank had slept the night in Pete's own room, and who the devil's business was it, anyway?

Frank's alibi was established beyond further question.

He walked silently to the front of the house, and hearing the voices of Mrs. Tudor, the sheriff, and Professor Semynov in the library, he vaulted quickly up the stairs. The locked door of the room in which Laurel had met her death presented no difficulties to him, and in a moment he had opened it with a skeleton key.

The two narrow, empty, tumbled beds, with clothing scattered about and the breakfast tray with only one chocolate cup used were the first objects which met his gaze.

He examined carefully the tiny pair of low-heeled lounging slippers which stood on the floor by the bed nearest the window, then turned his attention to the pink satin mules beside the other bed. Shaking his head, he was replacing them when, kicked or thrown far under the valance, he discovered a pair of inordinately small dull satin slippers with exaggeratedly pointed toes and high stilted heels. They had been curled all out of shape. As he drew them forth he felt the grating of the mud which still caked them, and realized that they were sopping wet.

He had risen and was examining them with minute care when an exclamation from behind him made him turn swiftly.

Fay Tudor stood in the doorway watching him. As her eyes fell upon the objects in his hands she opened her lips, but no words came.

"Can you tell me, Miss Tudor, to whom these belong?"

"They are mine, Sergeant Barry."

CHAPTER VIII

The look in her clear, limpid eyes was that of a child who does not understand, but senses no danger. Despite the damning revelation Barry felt an odd impulse of compassion. She appeared so small and frail, yet he, as well as everybody else in Sassy Cove, had heard of the fortitude and courage she had displayed during her two years of unceasing service. Could that courage and fortitude turn into implacable and relentless under the urge of reckless passion and a desire for revenge against the girl who, she learned only the previous night, had supplanted her in her absence?

Could it be that she was still in love with the young lieutenant?

THE RED FEATHER

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The feather instantly tied itself into a knot. Nancy and Nick ran to the house and got their clothes, then buckled on over their Green Shoes.

The Magical Mushroom had gone, but in his place was a little branch sticking up with a note on the end of it addressed to the Twins.

Nancy opened it and out fell a tiny red feather. There was a note, too, and she read: "My dear children. This feather shall be your guide. Hold it before you when in doubt and go in the direction it bends. Affectionately yours, The Magical Mushroom."

Nick put the feather in his pocket, but Nancy was more curious. "Let's look at it, Nickie," she cried. "If it is so important it must be different from other feathers!" So Nick took it out.

Nancy was very right. When the children looked close, behold the bright little feather was made up of a thousand tiny barbs, sharp as the finest needles, but set so firmly together that not the strongest blacksmith with the greatest grippers in the world could pull out one of them.

"It's very queer," said Nancy. "It doesn't look as tho it could bend without breaking."

But scarcely had she spoken when the feather instantly tied itself into a knot, then into a bow, and straightening itself did a series of gymnastics that was quite astonishing.

"It must be magical!" declared Nancy.

"Very magical," agreed Nick. Suddenly the red feather bent toward the east and stayed that way.

"That's the direction we must go to find the lost record," pointed Nancy. "It's showing us the way."

"The seven mountains and the seven valleys must be over there," pointed Nick. "Let's start."

SHORT SHAVINGS

Strength of G. O. Duplus, athlete extraordinary, also real estate dealer, cost him a pretty sum a few days ago. Duplus caught a friend (a gentleman) around the chest in a kidding match. There was a series of snaps and breaks. Duplus' friends standing by were horrified. They supposed the well-developed arms had crushed the victim's ribs. It wasn't as bad as that, a friend reports, but when an inventory was taken it was found Duplus had broken the following property in the man's pockets; two pair glasses; four cigars, a fountain pen and a silver pencil. It cost Duplus something like $50.

Love's labor lost! Miss Eunice Trumbo, director of the Boarding Home Division of the Child Welfare association, was a firm believer of the old saying as she dispassionately hung up a telephone receiver.

After an interesting conversation which involved considerable time over the phone, Miss Trumbo found she had been talking for her own benefit. In some way her party had been disconnected.

"Gosh, but I was mad!" she declared vehemently.

Ward H. Woelher, shoe store clerk, thought his plants weren't growing well. So he got some home dust for them. That didn't help. "He found out why, explains a friend, "when he discovered that what he thought was home dust fertilizer was Portland cement."

Can't you keep right on until you get to a garage?"

Dr. D. J. Sullivan tells of a neighbor who looked up to see if he could locate a robin he thought he heard singing overhead. "He walked off the curb," Sullivan said, "landed on his head, and heard a whole chorus of singing sounds."
